Lancaster County Fair Boasts 5,000 Exhibits

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

If any visitors at the opening day of the Lancaster County fair Tuesday thought the exposition was "Going to the dogs" or the horses were "running away with exhibits" they had a point.

The three-day annual event gets larger, and larger, with an increase clear across the board from more 4-H dog-handling entries to a record number of 4-H horse entries in a show that is approaching what looks like "state fair size".

Nearly 5,000 exhibits arrived at the fair and a big percentage were entered by suburban and urban youth who have swelled 4-H ranks with a wide variety of club projects.

Demonstrations, home economics, horticulture, horses, dogs, entomology, photography, agriculture engineering, baby sitting and home living projects attract many of the city and town club members, but you also find the urban youth in livestock events.

One of the highly heralded aspects of the Lancaster County Fair is the cooperation given the fair management by junior assistants and 4-H members who have assumed positions in assisting fair operation.

The judging of home economics, sheep, swine, dairy cattle and the Skirt and Blouse Dress Review will occupy the Wednesday program.

A popular attraction for fair exhibitors is scheduled Wednesday morning when experts in preparing textile, fine arts, and home products exhibits tell the "secrets" of preparing and selecting exhibits that meet the judges approval.

"We believe it will be a real attraction to the fair," said Mrs. Dale Weese, Rt. 3, Lincoln.

Fair visitors that wish to attend a panoramic view of the fair will find a wide representation in the 4-H Purple Ribbon Show Thursday evening that features the top dress review winners, showmanship finals, a parade of champions and recognition of four 100-year old farms in the county.

N. VIET PT BOAT SUNK

Fliers Spot 4 In Tonkin Gulf

. . . 1 SAIGON CHANNEL SHUT

Saigon (AP)—U.S. Navy planes attacked four North Vietnamese torpedo boats in the Gulf of Tonkin Tuesday, sinking one and heavily damaging two others, the U.S. command announced Wednesday.

A spokesman said the Navy A4 Skyhawks discovered the torpedo boats camouflaged in a chain of islands off the coast northeast of the key port of Haiphong.

The spokesman added that the PT boats were found in islands south of coastal city of Hon Gai.

Also east of Haiphong, U.S. Navy pilots sighted three MIG17s Tuesday, but a spokesman said there were no aerial clashes.

Follow, Leave

The carrier-based Skyhawks first sighted two MIGs followed the Skyhawks southeast of the port city and then broke away without any exchange of fire.

Later, he said, a third MIG17 started toward the Skyhawks but broke away without a fight. The Skyhawks were returning from a strike mission when they encountered the MIGs and were well out to sea over the Gulf of Tonkin when the encounter ended.

In other air action U.S. Air Force planes hit targets only five miles north of the demilitarized zone separating North and South Viet Nam.

Channel Shut

Salvage crews worked under armed guard Tuesday night to save the supply-laden Baton Rouge Victory, an American freighter sunk to her main deck in the Saigon River complex 22 miles southeast of this city by a communist mine. One of two channels was closed.

The electrically detonated blast ripped a gaping hole in the port side of the 21-year-old, 7,601-ton vessel and killed seven of her 45 American crewmen near the end of a 26-day voyage from San Francisco with trucks, post exchange merchandise and war cargo.

The Viet Cong followed up with heavy fire Tuesday night on a U.S. patrol boat cruising on the My Tho River 25 miles southwest of Saigon, drawing return fire from the boat. A U.S. spokesman, who announced the incident, had no word on casualties.

Closed

The Baton Rouge Victory grounded at the south bank of a canal that is part of one of the two main channels for shipping between Saigon and the South China Sea. The vessel was out of the way of traffic but the Vietnamese Navy, as a security precaution, temporarily closed that channel.

The explosion capped a week of intensified Viet Cong terrorism and sabotage that officials consider to be aimed at impeding the election of a constituent assembly Sept 11 as well as at military goals.

Ky Prepared To Swap Reds For Aviators

Saigon (UPI) — Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky said Tuesday he is prepared to "offer an uneven exchange" of North Vietnamese prisoners of war for American airmen held prisoner in North Viet Nam.

Ky made the statement in answer to a question by Rabbi Schulem Rubin, spiritual leader of the Young Israel Congregations of Pelham Parkway, in the Bronx, N.Y.

Rubin has been in Viet Nam two weeks visiting with American and Vietnamese officials.

Tuesday he visited with Ky, chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu and Foreign Minister Tran Van Do.

Rubin said the mustachioed prime minister told him he realized the necessity for avoiding further exscalation that might cause a third world war.

He said Ky did not elaborate on his statement. The number of North Vietnamese soldiers being held in South Viet Nam far exceeds the number of U.S. airmen held by North Viet Nam.

EXECUTIVE OFFICES REDUCED TO RUBBLE

A lunch-hour explosion killed at least two employes, left three missing, injured 19 others and destroyed a $1.38 million computer in an executive office building of the Phelps-Dodge Copper Products Corp. just outside Fort Wayne, Ind., Tuesday. Employes had smelled gas during the morning; fumes had sickened some office girls. A contractor working in the area said his men had bled some gas from lines into the building. The blast sent pencils, glass and debris flying for a quarter-mile. Most of the 90 employes normally in the building had gone out for lunch. An ambulance driver died of a heart attack after taking some of the injured to a hospital. Unofficial estimates placed the damage at more than $5 million.

Morris Clears Ettinger Of Personal Wrongdoing; Hearing Bid Is Dropped

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

State Institutions Director George Morris Tuesday cleared former Kearney Boys' Training School Supt. William Ettinger of any personal wrongdoing in the disciplining of five boys for homosexual activities.

Simultaneously, Ettinger released a statement accepting responsibility "for the actions of my subordinates," and withdrawing his request for a public hearing.

Ettinger was fired two weeks ago Tuesday by Morris for "official misconduct" disciplinary action involving five boys at the school.

Denied Accusation

Ettinger had publicly denied the accusation and requested a hearing which had been scheduled for Aug. 31 before Morris.

"I feel Mr. Morris's present position is fair and objective," Ettinger said. "He has cleared me of any conscious wrongdoing and that certainly is all I expected to accomplish at the public hearings."

Morris said his latest action was based "on certain additional evidence" uncovered by Ettinger's attorney, Robert Munro of Kearney.

Checked Evidence

He said Asst. Atty. Gen. Mel Kammerlohr and Munro have gone over the new evidence and the original investigative report made by the Nebraska Safety Patrol.

"Certain statements taken by the Patrol have been repudiated by witnesses and it is apparent that we are now faced with a great number of serious contradictions," he said.

"In view of the new developments," Morris said, "I am of the opinion that Bill Ettinger did not personally encourage the continuation of homosexual activity by the boys involved."

"The facts are now highly contradictory relative to the manner in which the boys were dressed—or undressed—but I am also of the opinion that Ettinger did not himself issue the order directing that they all be locked in one cell.

"It appears that although Mr. Ettinger knew the boys were going to solitary, he did not know they would all be together. However, he certainly must accept the responsibility for the actions of the staff he had trained and which were under his direction," Morris concluded.

Ettinger said he "does not expect to be reinstated" and that "I accept the situation as it now stands."

He said he is dropping his plans for a public hearing because it would only "continue the unsetting atmosphere at the school and cause further embarrassment to the staff and boys involved in this unfortunate incident."

Regretted

Ettinger said he "deeply regretted" the political overtones which he infused into his discharge from the Kearney post.

"I hope now Mr. Morris can get back to the business of running the state institutions and I can get busy looking for another job," he said

Both, Morris and Ettinger declined to comment on the prepared statements issued by both.

Four Die In Crash At Mead

Mead — Four persons died in a two-car collision near Mead late Tuesday afternoon.

The victims were identified by the State Safety Patrol as Mrs. Janice L. Elam, 22, Rt. 1, Mead, and her two children, Richard 2 and Debbie 5, and Rita Williams, 18 of Memphis.

The accident occurred one and one-half miles west and one mile south of Mead on a Saunders County road when the westbound Elam car was in collision with a southbound car driven by Barbara Fiedler, 16, of Memphis.

Miss Williams was a passenger in the car driven by Miss Fiedler, according to the Safety Patrol.

Freak Mishap Fatal To Boy

Gary Lee Christensen, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren D. Christensen of 6830 Clevelend, was killed in a freak accident late Friday afternoon.

The boy died instantly when he fell from the family car, which had been parked in the driveway of his home, and was run over by the left front wheel of the car, police said.

Police officials said the boy had been playing in the car and apparently did something to cause it to start rolling down the drive. They theorized the child panicked and either fell or tried to jump from the car.

According to police reports, the boy's mother, who was home at the time of the mishap, said he had just eaten supper and gone outside to play.

The accident, which police said will probably be counted a traffic fatality, will raise Lincoln's toll for the year to 10 and Lancaster County's to 24.

THE JOB CORPS: WHAT STUDENTS FACE

Instructors Plan To Use Corpsman's Tensions

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of three articles dealing with the preparation of Lincoln's Job Corps center and what faces the incoming Corpsmen.)

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

"We're going to use his tensions.

"It's not like high school counseling, where you attempt to reduce the tensions'" Lincoln Job Corps Center program consultant George Mills explained.

"Instead, we are going to use the Corpsman's tensions to pull him in and generate his movement" toward vocational, educational, social and symbolic skills, Mills noted.

The Lincoln center will be the first Job Corps facility in the nation to use "progressive choice" learning theories pioneered by Dr. Myron Woolman, director of the Institute of Educational Research in Washington, D.C.

'Lattice'

The system is termed the "lattice" method of teaching, in which the student must learn, use and relate basic skills to move both forward and upward in the learning process.

Motivation is the biggest problem in education, according to Mills, an associate of Dr. Woolman. It is the key, and if it can be built into the educational system, then the instructor is freed to teach, he noted.

The Lincoln center program will place the Corpsman in "an unambiguous world," in which "very simple stimuli will produce a predictable response," Mills pointed out.

Cause, Effect

"Cause and effect," suggested Center Director J. O. Grantham.

Here's how it works:

Suppose a Corpsman is being trained in automobile maintenance and repair.

"We go to the primary level," Mills said. "We show him the tool, not the auto. If there are 26 tools, we take them one at a time."

The Corpsman will be taught how to use the tool—and, as he learns, he will advance to the next step and move up the ladder to another learning experience, which requires use of the skill (or skills) previously learned.

More Complex

"We will continually increase the complexity of the task," Mills pointed out.

Progress will be a consequence of behavior, and accomplishment will determine advancement in the system, Mills said.

"We want to hook him," Grantham noted.

"As he advances, the task expands, unfolds in complexity," Mills said. "We increase the demand for precision."

Functioning

The system's "built-in basic response mechanisms" should now be functioning, Mills pointed out.

"Soon we designate leaders for projects, and we ask them to perform a task, but we are less specific about how to do it. They must use what they have previously learned to accomplish the task.

"Then we rotate the leaders."

Progress for the individual Corpsman will be measured "not by the passage of time, but only by demonstrated proficiency," Mills said.

Only Way

"The only way to beat the game is to demonstrate proficiency."

Add a new element.

"At points along the line, the Corpsman will be asked to assume an instructional responsibility," Mills said.

He must turn around, reach down and help teach the Corpsman on a lower plateau behind him the skills he has already learned — as well as continuing to advance and move up the ladder of learning himself.

Really Hooked

"His progress is now predicated not only on what he's doing, but on what the other guy is doing," Mills pointed out.

"Now, he's really hooked," Grantham noted.

"He does not progress now unless the other guy progresses," Mills said. "If he is to move, he has to work out any differences he may have with the other guy. They are going to have to be mutually working toward the same goal."

And as the Corpsman teaches previously - learned skills, he himself increases his ability to use those skills. He acquires an image. He develops self-assurance and responsibility and motivation.

Mixed into all of this by now is status and pride.

To keep his status, the Corpsman has to continue to move ahead of those behind him — but, to move, he has to help the guy below move too.

"His degree of progress will affect his privileges at the center," Grantham pointed out, "just like in the outside world.

"He will have to want to aspire to a better life in order to gain it. And to gain it, he must demonstrate accomplishment."

Not Docile

The educational program is designed "to activate the Corpsman so he is highly responsive, not docile," Mills said.

"But we must be careful not to create merely an adjustment to the institution. He must be adjusted to life."

So the system will also aim toward developing "an adaptive capability," which will permit the Corpsman to meet changing situations, Mills said.

Stress Tolerance

"We want to structure within him a tolerance to stress," he noted.

"We want to defuse the bomb," Grantham pointed out.

"The Corpsman must learn that only the disciplined person can, in reality, be free. The alternative is anarchy and chaos."

Top Soldier Wants Out; Bonn Row Due

Bonn, Germany (AP) — The commander-in-chief of West Germany's armed forces, Gen. Heinz Trettner, has asked to be retired because of a government order allowing soldiers to join a labor union, the defense ministry announced Tuesday night.

The disclosure gave new urgency to a developing row between West Germany's armed forces chiefs and the government.

The suspension Monday of the air force chief, Lt. Gen. Werner Panitzki, has caused a major political storm, and some observers said Defense Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel is in danger of losing his job. Panitzki had previously asked to be retired.

Objected

The defense ministry said Trettner had objected to an order signed by Von Hassel Aug. 2 giving soldiers, sailors and airmen the right to join the Public Services and Transport Workers Union. It also gave the union the right to recruit among the estimated 430,000 members of the armed forces.

The defense ministry at first opposed the union's claim to represent the rank-and-file in the armed forces on grounds that their union membership would interfere with discipline.

The union took the case to court, but Von Hassel relented. From the start, the union had renounced the use of strike action in the armed forces.

Another Group

About 100,000 armed forces members belong to the German Forces Union, but this is not a full-fledged labor union.

Trettner, 59, was appointed commander-in-chief Jan. 1, 1963. He was due to retire in September 1967, when he reaches 60. In World War II he commanded German troops in Russia and Italy.

The defense ministry said Trettner handed in his request for retirement the weekend of Aug. 13-14, a day after Panitzki made his application.

Military To Train 40,000 Rejectees

New York —Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Tuesday 40,000 men disqualified for the draft under current standards will be accepted for military training within the next 10 months as a link between the war on poverty and the nation's defense.

He said the men—rejected for education and health reasons often rooted in poverty—would be given special training at military posts to qualify them for regular service.

McNamara told the 67th convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars that in the next fiscal year and thereafter the number would be increased to 100,000.

He added:

"The poor of America have not had the opportunity to earn their fair share of this nation's abundance, but they can be given the opportunity to serve in their country's defense and they can be given an opportunity to return to civilian life with skills and aptitudes which for them and their families will reverse the downward spiral of human decay."

He estimated that 85% of the youths taken into the program could be brought up to draft standards for regular military service.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said "it is a possibility" that some of the men affected would be those now classified 1Y—a pool of about two million men who do not meet standard mental or physical requirements except under war on emergency conditions. Those classified 4F, with serious defects, would not be affected.

Solons Agree On Mortgages

Washington (AP) — Senate-House conferees agreed Tuesday on a bill to pump $4.76 billion of mortgage money into a homebuilding industry slowed down drastically by a scarcity of funds for would-be buyers.

They also agreed on another bill to continue the mass transit subsidy program at the current $150-million-a-year pace for the two fiscal years starting next July. It is aimed primarily at ailing transit systems.

The conferees, meeting for the first time on the housing bill, picked the highest possible figure by accepting all devices voted separately by the house and Senate to bolster the mortgage market.

Cicero Requests Guard Aid

Chicago (AP) — The worried town of Cicero appealed Tuesday for the immediate mobilization of the Illinois National Guard to "prevent disaster" when civil rights marchers move into the community Sunday.

Christy S. Berkos, attorney for Cicero, told the Associated Press he had telegraphed the plea to Gov. Otto Kerner.

Berkos' telegram said, "The probability of danger and destruction to human life and property has now become a certainty, and all efforts of the Cicero police department totaling 90 men to maintain law and order and to prevent obvious disaster would be futile."

Berkos requested a conference Wednesday with the governor.

Stream Of Injured Ferried To Quake Zone Field Hospital

Varto, Turkey (UPI)—Ambulances and helicopters Tuesday ferried a stream of injured to an overworked U.S. Army field hospital on the edge of the Turkish earthquake zone.

Meanwhile, the devastated town of Varto—still shaking with minor tremors—lay under a pall of dust, flies and the awful stench of death.

But miraculously, most spring water supplies in the area were not polluted. However, the threat of cholera, rampant in neighboring Iraq, persisted. Harassed Turkish authorities had yet to get supplies of disinfectant to the stricken area.

But in Istanbul, health ministry officials were drawing up plans to quarantine and vaccinate evacuees from the disaster area.

Officials put the death toll at more than 2,500 and still rising. The leading official at Varto said 2,235 persons died in the ruins of more than 8,000 houses here. Elsewhere in the area, 128 bodies were found at Hinis, 24 at Karliova and 139 at other nearby villages. Some 50 townships in all, with an estimated population of more than 100,000 were hit by the quake Friday.

Leaky Gas Pipe Blamed For Explosion

Plainview, Tex. (UPI) — A leaky gas pipeline was blamed officially Tuesday for the explosion that ripped apart a church, killed one woman and injured scores of other persons Monday night.

Fire department officials, civil defense authorities and officials of the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. blamed pipelines that seeped in two separate locations, saturating the ground with natural gas.

The officials said a spark from an electric organ apparently set off the blast.

The Gibbons Chapel of the Church of God in Christ exploded Monday night just as Mrs. Frankie Carter, soloist, and the United Baptist Choir began to sing, "Jesus Is All I Need."

More than 150 persons were gathered in the church for the choir singing of several west Texas Negro congregations and to hear a sermon on "Lord, Give Me a Song in the Night."

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN

Making Air By Atomics Is Forecast

Los Angeles (UPI) — Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg Tuesday forecast a time when nuclear power will be used to convert surface materials of an airless distant planet into an artificial atmosphere for the benefit of explorers from Earth.

Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, addressed the western electronic show and convention on "The Atom's Future in Space."

In the next decade, he said, man may transport nuclear power reactors to the moon to heat or cool large stations or colonies and to extract water from moon rock, produce synthetic food, and process moon minerals.

Manned stations on far planets would come "in the more distant future" with nuclear power providing "plant conditioning" and surface transportation for the visitors.

In earlier prospect is an atom-powered "orbital taxi service" which could be used to supply, inspect, and maintain manned stations in Earth orbit and perhaps engage in space "rescue action."

For expeditions to Mars, Seaborg said, nuclear rockets will make possible delivery of payloads two to four times heavier than chemical rockets of corresponding power could handle.

High thrust nuclear rockets plus nuclear-electric propulsion systems of low thrust but long life and high velocity "promise to do great things for Solar System exploration," he said.

First Matinee Idol, Bushman, 83, Dies

World News

Hollywood (UPI)—Francis X. Bushman, 83, whose classic features made him the screen's first matinee idol and earned him more than $6 million, collapsed and died Tuesday in his modest home. His death occurred 40 years to the day after another great film lover, Rudolph Valentino, passed away.

A coroner's autopsy indicated that "death was due to a rupture of the heart at the site of a localized area of infarcation (death) of the heart muscle which resulted from the recent thrombosis (plugging) of one of the main branches of the coronary arteries which, in turn, showed advanced arteriosclerotic changes."

Bushman's death at first was attributed to his striking his head on a kitchen cupboard in a fall at his home in nearby Pacific Palisades.

Despite his age, the actors silvery leonine mane, bushy eyebrows and powerful frame continued to endow him with the aura of the "King of the Movies," which he was a half-century ago.

Prolific

Bushman, whose 424 movie roles outstripped the productivity of any other star then or since, remained active in the entertainment world until his death.

A similar fall three days ago had forced him to cancel plans to appear in a Western movie at Paramount studios. It was to have been his first cowboy film.

Born Jan 10, 1883, in Baltimore, Md., Bushman's thetrical career began with Eastern stock companies. In 1907, he made his Broadway debut in "Queen of the Moulin Rouge."

Subsequently, Bushman toured with road companies.

Francis Xavier Bushman's movie debut began in Chicago in 1911, when he appeared in the old Essanay film company's "Lost Years."

Women across the nation swooned at the handsome, rugged actor. For the next seven years, Bushman was the top star in Hollywood.

At the height of his film career, in 1918, Bushman sued to divorce his first wife, Josephine, so he could marry his leading lady, Beverly Bayne. The divorce suit tipped off his public that not only was he married, but he also had five children. The knowledge wrecked his career.

From 1920-21, Bushman returned to the stage, appearing in Orpheum circuit vaudeville productions.

A 1926 movie comeback in "Ben Hur" failed, although his role of Messala to Ramon Navarro's Ben brought him immortal screen fame.

The 1929 stock market crash hit Bushman hard. He went to Chicago, where he became a successful radio personality, with some 5,000 broadcasts his main source of income for many years.

Redhead Wins Top Honors At Seward's Fair

. . . Red Angus Calf Is Grand Champ

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Seward—Blonds weren't having more fun at the Seward County Fair.

A brunete and redhead team were.

Brunette Linda Dobesh and a friend called Little Red strolled off with the grand champion trophy for market heifers.

Little Red is a red Angus calf, somewhat of a rarity, but not the one-in-ten-thousand Raphael Dobesh had heard about.

The registered Angus breeder from north of Seward and his youngsters raised three of the red-tinted animals this year.

"These are the first we've had in 28 years," he noted. All were sired by the same bull, but there were no more this year.

Big Red Also Cited

Patti, Linda's younger sister, won a blue ribbon with Big Red, a cousin of the champ, in Angus steer competition.

"This is really great," beamed Linda as she led the purple-ribbon calf from the arena.

The David City Aquinas sophomore plans to take the rare pair to the State Fair, but "I'll have to train Little Red to lead better before then."

It was her first big win since she switched to cattle after winning a first place in sheep showmanship.

Weather was cool, sunny and perfect Tuesday, bringing out more spectators to view the livestock competition and tour the carnival midway.

"During the 10 years I was on the board, we never had a day like this," commented State Sen. Stan Matzke.

Though no prizes were awarded, small boys held imaginary races on the rows of tractors and combines.

Ignoring the evening chill, Susan Boals sang her way to the county Centennial Queen crown Monday. The Nebraska Wesleyan coed won over eight other contestants.

The Swenson Thrillcade provided action before the grandstand crowd Tuesday night, and the Cousin Minnie Pearl Show of Grand Ol' Opry stars is scheduled to finish off the three-day fair Wednesday night.

Continuing a family tradition of prize animals, Susan Eberspacher of Beaver Crossing took a first in the senior sheep showmanship contest and had the top Angus breeding heifer.

Dennis Eberspacher, also of Beaver Crossing, showed the champion market lamb.

Linda Fosler of Milford had the reserve grand champion among market heifers, while brother Larry's Hereford breeding heifer was judged best in its class.

Dog Bites Man; Man Bites Man

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP) —City patrolman Boyce McCall says a man he sought to arrest for drunkenness followed the lead of his dog—and bit him. The man-sized bite was worse.

McCall testified in city court that as he arrested the man, "his dog bit me on the leg."

"And when I got him in my cruiser, he (the man) nearly bit my finger off."

He displayed the leg, which showed some teeth marks—and the finger, which was swollen to twice its normal size.

Car-Bike Crash Kills 9-Year-Old

Fremont (AP) — A 9-year-old rural Hooper boy died of injuries suffered Tuesday afternoon in a car-bicycle accident about 14 miles northwest of Fremont on the Scribner-Herman road.

The State Safety Patrol said the boy, Joel Gustafson, entered the roadway in front of a truck driven by 32-year-old Donald D. Knapp of Cedar Bluffs.

Funds Sought For Training Prisoners Following Release

Washington (AP) — Nebraska wants $208,000 in federal funds to give job training to convicts.

Don Kirkpatrick, field supervisor of the Nebraska Division of Employment, said Tuesday he had discussed the application with Sen Roman L Hruska, R-Neb., and his staff and would see Labor Department officials about it later.

Kirkpatric said at a weekly Nebraska congressional delegation breakfast the money would be used for out-of-institution training after release of prisoners from state penal and correctional institutions.

He later told reporters part of the money would be used to pay 11 workers, five of whom would be counselors in the institutions. They would choose prior to release from prison those best suited for the training.

If the project is approved, it is planned to train some 200 persons, he said.

4 More Counties Designated For Emergency Loans

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has designated Butler, Colfax, Nance and Platte Counties as emergency loan areas and has extended such designations for Boone, Greeley and Wheeler Counties to June 30, 1967, Gov. Frank Morrison reported Tuesday.

The designation authorizes the Farmers Home Administration to make long-term, low-interest loans to farmers and ranchers in the counties who are not able to obtain the needed credit from other sources to continue their normal operations.

The governor said emergency loans were authorized for Colfax, Nance and Platte Counties because of damage caused by the Aug. 12-13 flooding of the Loup and Cedar Rivers. He said Butler County's designation stems from extensive drought damage.

$251,000 Damage Suit Filed In Braniff Crash

Omaha (AP)—A $251,000 damage suit was filed in District Court Tuesday against Braniff Airways, Inc., in connection with the Aug. 6 crash near Falls City, Neb., which claimed 42 lives.

The suit was filed by John Deines, father and administrator of the estate of Ronald L. Deines, 19, one of the passengers killed when the Braniff BAC One-11 jet en route from Kansas City to Omaha crashed. Young Deines was en route to his home at Bayard, Neb., on leave from the army before going to Viet Nam.

The petition alleged Braniff was negligent in the operation of the plane. It alleged specifically: improper and reckless operation under stormy weather conditions; flying at less than 32,000 feet "which altitude was the top of the thunderstorm area prevailing in the area of Falls City; flying at excess speed; failing to change course; failure to take proper pre-flight and in-flight measures to insure a safe flight and violation of company and civil air regulations; and dangerous operational policies."

Helping Mentally Ill

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Some much needed legislation in the field of involuntary commitment of people to a mental institution has been recommended by a legislative interim study committee. For years, the system of commitment now employed in Nebraska has been a disgrace, a procedure that has come from a dark past of misunderstanding and ignorance.

Presently, it is as easy to have an individual committed as it is to buy your groceries on Saturday morning. All it requires is for someone to sign a complaint. That starts the ball rolling and the sheriff immediately goes out and picks up the person against whom the complaint has been issued. That person can be and invariably is then held against his own will in jail or in a mental institution. This confinement can last for weeks or up to months, depending upon the time of the next meeting of the mental health board before which the case is to be tried.

Confinement Too Easy

And even at this hearing there can be no protection of the accused. He can be examined and his case decided without ever having been provided with counsel. The situation is one that can be described only as deplorable and the record shows that the system permitted has been abused in the past.

The study committee would change a number of things. Oddly enough, the changes would give to the person charged the same statutory and constitutional rights as a person charged with a criminal offense. At another point, the committee report stated that mental illness is not a crime.

That points up one of the incongruities of our system. We are making progress when we place mental illness on the level of a crime! How backward can we get? Mental illness in its handling by the community should be far advanced from the treatment of criminals. Yet, we give the most hardened criminal, even the murder suspect, more protection and rights than we give the mentally ill. We treat those accused of mental illness as though they were not even human beings and as though we had no humanity in our bones. But giving those accused of mental illness the same protection as is afforded a criminal would be an advancement. Perhaps we might see our way clear someday to go even further than that, to shake a few more of the cobwebs from our brain.

The changes proposed would discourage confinement in a jail of those accused of mental illness. The word "discourage" is used deliberately because the law would not totally prevent it. A further change would prohibit holding such a person in jail for more than 72 hours under any circumstances. Those accused would also be guaranteed counsel and it would become a crime to maliciously file a false application for commitment of another person to a state hospital. Even those changes would leave a lot to be desired but they would make the situation much better than it is.

If they look pretty generous to you, remember that commitment procedures require only a single complaint. Anyone can go to the courthouse and complain about anyone he wants. If he makes a formal complaint, then the accused is in the soup. If not mentally ill, a person could well be by the time he was subjected to the kind of treatment we now employ.

In the past, people have been forcibly removed by the sheriff and carted off to jail while people looked on wonderingly. The system we use is so open to abuse and injustice that one wonders how it ever survived for so long. Even the most sane person can be put away for weeks without any recourse, at all.

The situation is one that serves all kinds of devious ends by unscrupulous people. Also, it is not an advanced method of operation even when there is a legitimate complaint made against someone who actually is mentally ill. Even if mentally ill, the individual does not belong in jail and there is no need for his being there. State institutions should be made to accept cases when there is any danger to society involved and law-enforcement officers should be made to secure commitment of all accused in a state institution for the mentally ill.

Jail Is Not Answer

Also, a misdemeanor for maliciously filing a false application for commitment of another person is a laugh. Such action is a serious crime against a person and should be treated as such. Certainly, the recommendations of the study committee should be approved as minimal.

New Theater For Lincoln

Construction in Lincoln of a new movie theater by the Cooper Foundation is good news from a number of points of view. For one thing, it is a demonstration of confidence in the future of this community—a judgment backed up with financial investment that Lincoln has an unlimited growth potential.

Certainly, the Cooper Foundation would not be investing in a new theater in an area it felt was declining. Also, the venture has a certain intangible appeal. When television was once thought to be the end of movies, it was a sad development because movies, the glamour of Hollywood, the attraction of the big stars, all had been a part of the life of each of us.

The movies were entertaining and they took us in a harmless delusion to the heights of our worldly dreams. They were a part of life that seemed to move at a little slower pace than it does today and they were an important part of every courtship. Without the movies, a young man would hardly have known how to entertain his best girl.

Even if they were times no better than today, they were good in the eyes of those who lived them. A continuing association with them is found through the movies and for that many are glad that the dire predictions of a few years ago for the movie industry have proven to be false.

The fact that Lincoln is to have a new theater is proof that the film industry has weathered its darker days and now looks forward to a bright future. Lincoln is happy to be sharing in that future.

Freedom Of Speech

Mihajlo Mihajlov is an usually important young man in Yugoslavia although not known at all in Nebraska.

He is important because he is articulate and has authored several articles critical both of the Russian type of communism and of the less corrosive Yugoslav kind.

Yugoslavia permits a measure of free speech, that is, as long as it is in favor of Tito and the existing government. One is utterly free to say nice things about both. The only hitch in Yugoslav free speech is when it becomes adverse or advocates things that are displeasing to the ruling element. Then it ceases to be free speech and becomes bad citizenship. And there are penalties for that.

Mohajlo Mihajlov got away with a few critical articles because the Yugoslav government believes in leniency. But recently he announced he was going to start a magazine and come out periodically with critical articles for an indefinite period of time.

That was a bit too much. The underlings of government grabbed him and threw him in jail where he now is and may continue to be for quite a long time. And there are no printing presses in his jail, and no way to get copy to the outside, so we imagine his magazine plans have pretty well evaporated.

The best we can say of this is that the sort of communism existing in Yugoslavia at least allowed him some leeway and in the end did not shoot him.

The example shows how difficult it is to define freedom. It seems to vary from place to place.

Death Penalty Declines

Do moral pronouncements by churches have any real impact on public opinion?

Cynics would say no, and in moments of discouragement church leaders would be inclined to agree.

But solid evidence is at hand that religious teaching can help to bring about a major change in the attitudes of the American people.

About 15 years ago, Protestant denominations began a campaign for abolition of capital punishment. At that time, public opinion polls showed that more than two-thirds of the people were in favor of the death penalty.

The latest Gallup Poll, conducted this summer, shows that only 42 percent want to retain capital punishment, while 47 percent would like to see it abolished. The other 11 percent are undecided.

This striking shift in popular feeling was not achieved solely by churches. Other voices have also been raised against the death penalty. But the campaign for abolition has been organized and led primarily by churchmen, and has been motivated largely by moral concerns.

The religious argument against capital punishment was stated most recently in a resolution adopted June 29 by a near-unanimous vote of delegates to the annual meeting of the Lutheran Church of America in Kansas City. It said that the death penalty "falls disproportionately upon those least able to defend themselves," makes a miscarriage of justice irrevocable, and "ends the possibility of restoring the convicted person to effective and productive citizenship." It also said history provides no proof of the contention that capital punishment serves as a deterrent to crime.

To date, only 13 of the 50 states have taken formal legislative action to abolish the death penalty. But there has been a strong trend toward de facto abolition. During the 1940's, the United States had an average of 128 executions a year. By 1964, the number of executions had declined to 15. Last year, only 7 persons were legally put to death in America.

Auto Safety Bill Trimmed Down

WASHINGTON—The Senate and House of Representatives today (Aug. 24) begin ironing out differences in the auto safety bill, one of the most important pieces of legislation which will come out of this Congress.

When the auto safety bill was being debated in the House of Representatives last week, Lloyd Cutler, astute attorney for the auto manufacturers, sat in the House gallery, the most interested spectator of all. He was there to check on which congressmen tried to insert criminal penalties in the bill against his clients in case they defaulted on the new law.

What Cutler knew but the public didn't was that a vigorous backstage hassle had taken place over these criminal penalties. Many senators had urged that the auto manufacturers be subject to the same provisions as other corporations when they failed to protect the public.

However, auto attorney Cutler managed to corral all the Republican votes in the Senate Commerce Committee plus three Democrats: Phil Hart, Detroit, Mike Monroney, Okla., and Frank Lausche, Ohio. Together they knocked out criminal penalties for the auto magnates.

Before the auto safety bill came up for a vote in the House, news reached Capitol Hill that the White House favored criminal penalties. But there was no public statement. When newsmen telephoned efficient Joe Califano, who handled the bill for the White House, his secretary said he would call back. Four hours later Califano had never called back. It looked as if the White House wanted to be with the auto critics and with auto industry both.

One last valiant attempt was made on the House floor by Congressman Tip O'Neill of Cambridge, Mass., to put the auto industry in the same category as other corporations. But he was bucking the chairman of the Commerce Committee, Harley Staggers of West Virginia, who made an almost emotional speech urging the exemption of the auto industry from criminal punishment.

Most important aspect of the House vote is the effect it will have on other industries. Other government agencies now have the power of investigation and subpoena — the Antitrust Division, the Federal Trade Commission, the Federal Power Commission, the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Labor under the Landrum-Griffin Act. But the new auto safety agency will be denied that power. Therefore, other industries can claim they should not be less favored.

Also, the auto companies can argue that safety additions to automobiles will cost too much; and the government, without the power of investigation, cannot easily counter this argument. Since the new law requires the government to take cost into consideration in setting safety standards, the power to establish cost is a very important part of future auto safety.

Demonstrator Arenas, Popcorn On The Side

WASHINGTON — If I suggested that the government build huge stadiums in Washington and other major cities — for the sole use of demonstrators — and then suggested that there be a law restricting all demonstrations to those arenas, you'd probably say it was unconstitutional, or something, right? Well, you might be wrong.

Because the government restricts demonstrators to certain areas all the time. For instance, protestors are not allowed to flop down on highways or streets, because this interferes with the freedom of taxpayers who must use the road. Pickets can be forcefully ejected from private property. Demonstrators cannot block a man from entering his home, office or any public building.

Protestors are not allowed to gather within 100 feet of a foreign embassy or a consulate. Recently there was introduced in the House a bill to prohibit picketing within 500 feet of a church. Whether this is constitutional remains to be seen, but, if it is, then there is no reason why we can't restrict ALL demonstrations to certain specified areas.

The Bill of Rights says Congress shall make no law abridging the right of the people to peacefully assemble and petition the government for redress of grievances. But the key word in that phrase is "peacefully." I have never seen a demonstration that, technically, could not be considered a disturbance of the peace.

Let us now look at the advantages to everyone of demonstration arenas. First of all, they would go a long way toward ending confusion in the streets. Thousands of policemen across the nation would be relieved of demonstration duty and could go back to fighting crime. Television stations, which love demonstrations, could set up permanent booths to cover the events (just as they do football games), and save a fortune by not having to send out mobile units, etc.

Since the demonstration arenas' stands and "playing fields" would be concrete, damages, regardless of how wild the melee, would be minimal. (The national damage tab for "peaceful" demonstrations now runs into millions of dollars every year.)

Even the demonstrators might like my idea. They could sell tickets, hot dogs, soda pop, etc., and thereby raise money for their causes. Demonstrating could become an exciting spectator sport, with demonstration teams representing contrasting causes on the field at the same time. (Points could be given for best slogans, costumes, speeches, songs, dances, etc.) All I need now is a congressman to introduce all this as a bill.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Ready-Made Propaganda

WASHINGTON—In assessing the damage done by the House Un-American Activities Committee, the effect of that wrestling match on the foreign audience ranks high. Those televised scenes of witnesses and attorneys being dragged from the hearing room are even now being shown in Peking and North Viet Nam.

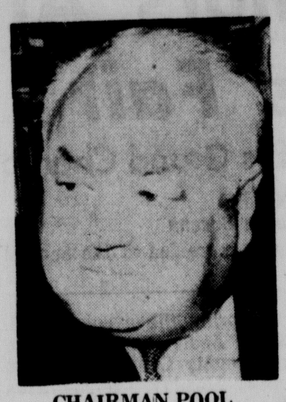

In the propaganda drive to hold the North Vietnamese in the war, they are offered as evidence that the brutal hirelings of imperialism will go to any length to suppress the true representatives of the American people. In this propaganda exercise these representatives being trundled off to jail speak for a majority of all Americans.

That is a measure of the harm the hearings have done. They gave a tiny splinter of peaceniks — by their own admission not more than 5,000 in the whole country—an opening for worldwide exposure and martyrdom. Before that opening their attempt to dramatize their opposition to the war had fallen off almost to zero.

Whether the masters at the top in Hanoi and Peking believe their own propaganda, no one can say. Shut away in their airtight ideological prison, they seem to have an infinite capacity for self-deception. But, belief or merely cynical propaganda, the uproar in the committee room was a godsend to the communists bent on fighting the war in Viet Nam to the bitter end. See, they are saying, here you have it, only force holds free Americans from revolting against the military and the capitalists waging a war of aggression against the Vietnamese people.

Underscoring the damage is the fact that active opposition to President Johnson's policy in Viet Nam has, with the exception of the peaceniks, all but subsided. Sen. J. William Fulbright, the most articulate of the congressional critics, in an interview the other day said in effect that opposition was futile since the Congress was more warlike than the President. He was saying to Hanoi that the Johnson administration means to go through with the war no matter what the cost in escalation.

CHAIRMAN POOL
Like an Alabama sheriff

Aside from the communist capitals, the damage elsewhere in the world and here at home cannot be discounted. The scenes of disorder and violence will have a powerful impact in Western Europe where the long-drawn-out tragedy of the war is equated by critics with a quality of recklessness and savagery in the American temperament. The fact that the disorder was begun by the witnesses is irrelevant for the foreign audience, since their martyrdom in being brought before the committee in the first place is established by the past record of what appears in European eyes to be a sinister inquisitorial body with no objective other than to harass anyone whose views are to the left of center.

It may be that past experience with the committee's wild divagations has blunted the effect at home. What? They're at it again? This cannot, however, be taken for granted. Despite the disclaimer of the acting chairman, Rep. Joe Pool of Texas, that there was no intention to deny the right of dissent, the line between intellectual criticism of Viet Nam policy and acts such as trying to stop a troop train will be blurred.

In a climate of concern as the consequences of the war bite deeper and deeper with the number of American troops close to the 300,000 mark, the emotions generated in the hearing room can be infectious. The short way with dissenters—bounce them out and put them in jail — that was the lesson of the hearings shown on television throughout the nation.

As for the cast of characters, the most vengeful and satirical film-maker could not have improved on it. Joe Pool looks like an Alabama sheriff ready at the drop of a bull whip to throw his deputies around the courthouse. He is said to be delighted by the whole affair since it cast him in the role of communist destroyer and thereby put his right-wing Republican opponent in Dallas in the shade. Such exposure on television was a boon that couldn't have been bought with all the campaign funds in Texas.

Returning from his primary contest in Louisiana, the regular chairman of the committee, Rep. Edwin E. Willis, surveyed the scene with a fine impassivity. The only animation he showed was the rhythmic movement of his jaws as he chewed a wad of gum. Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D.-Mo., was better suited to the role of inquisitor, having the look of one who means to ferret out the darkest secrets.

The young peaceniks were cast with equal verisimilitude. They were brash, rude, obstreperous, bent on causing as much trouble as possible given a golden opportunity to discredit Congress and the democratic process. That they were given the opportunity is the saddest commentary of all.

BOB CONSIDINE

One Theory For Living With Bomb

NEW YORK — We can live with The Bomb, exist in a world where just about every nation big and small has its tidy piles of nuclear weapons ready to hurl as soon as the Archduke Ferdinand of the atomic age is plugged.

That's the thesis of David A. Robison, Columbia University political scientist who is a product of two of the nation's most reputable Think Tanks — Herman Kahn's Hudson Institute and the Stanford Research Institute. His plan is spread in the current issue of Air Force Magazine.

His feeling is not mutual.

"The peace of the world requires firm limits upon the spread of nuclear weapons," President Johnson has said. Sen. Robert Kennedy put it this way: "The chances of survival of mankind on this planet beyond the 20th century would become remote," if ownership of nuclear bombs spreads.

Robison doesn't think that alarms of this nature are going to prevent proliferation.

"A complete test ban would not make much difference, since countries can build and rely on a small nuclear stockpile without testing any weapons," he writes. "There is no known instance of a nuclear test which failed because the bomb did not detonate. The U.S. did not test the A-bomb it dropped on Nagasaki. Everyone knows that the technological difficulties and economic costs of building a small nuclear stockpile have been dramatically reduced in the last ten years."

Uranium, major source of A-bombs, is found in Australia, Brazil, Canada, the Congo, France, Germany, Italy, Portugal, Sweden, the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. It is as plentiful in the earth's surface as lead. As for H-bombs the substances which provide for their fusion are even more plentiful. Lithium is a common chemical, deuterium can be separated from water, and tritium can be made in any nuclear reactor.

"Nuclear weapons offer a dramatic increase in a certain type of power," Robison writes with disarming logic. "They tend to produce subjective mutual deterrence between equal or unequal opponents. They sharply increase a country's ability to avoid being attacked. In short, they multiply a country's power to be left alone, either by an opponent or by bigger countries . . . De Gaulle understands that France could not gain as much deterrence and standing by increasing her forces by ten to 15 divisions as she will get more cheaply by her nuclear force. China cannot move her big army around very well. With nuclear weapons, her power is projected as far as the reach of her weapons."

America's opposition to the nuclear spread reminds Robison of our ill-starred sponsorship of the Kellog-Briand Pact of 1928, the pact to "outlaw" war. English historian D. W. Brogan wrote of that: "The U.S., which had abolished the evils of drink by the 18th Amendment, invited the world to abolish war by taking the pledge." We alienate friends by saying they must not be about the same business that we are, that of building and storing nuclear bombs, Robson feels.

His plan:

—Offer incentives to new nuclear countries to place a variety of controls on their weapons, incentives in the way of technological help, American backing, economic aid, conventional military assistance.

—Political pacts with new nuclear nations calling for consultation in crises in either signatory.

—Avoid large-scale war among the big nuclear powers and it doesn't matter how many small nations have bombs.

He urges that we make a point of maintaining and strengthening ties with Britain, France, Germany, Japan and India; clear things with Russia in case we are called upon to involve ourselves in a war involving any of those allies; stay out of conflicts in which our vital interests are not directly threatened and where the Soviets would intervene on the opposite side.

P.S.—And pray.

Power Board Ruling In Schuyler Case Backed

The president of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association Tuesday defended the Nebraska Power Review Board for "acting in the public interest" in its ruling denying Schuyler the right to serve an industrial customer outside its voluntary retail service area boundaries.

In the case, the board found in favor of Cornhusker Public Power District, in whose service area the industrial customer is located.

"Had the city been permitted to invade one of the few choice developments for industry in the area in which Cornhusker had been given a charter by the state, the action would not only have been inconsistent with the law but an unwarranted denial of the rights of a rural public power district," Leland Kitt said.

Schuyler had annexed a 30-foot strip of land west of the city for a distance of one-half mile and then added another tract abutting this strip, Kitt said.

"This action," he said, "was gerrymandering for the calculated purpose of including within the city's zoning area land on which a proposed packing plant was to be built.

"The city then, in a unilateral action, attempted to persuade the board to amend an agreement made in 1964 which placed the proposed site within the Cornhusker service area."

In ruling against the application, the board "defended the service area concept established by the Legislature in LB220, a bill which was subjected to the most detailed examination at the time of its enactment in 1963," Kitt said.

"If the rural system is to be denied the right to serve the occasional large and favorable load within its prescribed territory and is to serve only the small and scattered loads, it can no longer be expected to fulfill its obligations to rural Nebraska," Kitt contended.

Conservation Unit Sets Meet At St. Paul

The State Soil and Water Conservation Commission said Tuesday it will conduct a public meeting at St. Paul next Tuesday to discuss the need for a coordinated soil and water conservation development program for the Loup River basin.

The lower Loup basin was hit by a flood two weeks ago, and state and federal officials have called on basin residents of the upper and lower regions to end their differences and unite behind a coordinated effort.

Warren Fairchild, executive secretary of the state commission, said it is hopeful that the St. Paul meeting will spur formation of a basinwide organization to sponsor plans and studies for the entire basing.

He said representatives of the commission, U.S. Corps of Engineers, U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, U.S. Soil Conservation Service, State Health Department, State Game Commission and University of Nebraska Extension Service will attend the public meeting.

Extended special invitations were state senators, county commissioners, soil and water conservation supervisors and representatives of irrigation districts and municipalities, he said.

"The interest in a coordinated program in the basin is very high now, obviously as a result of the flood," Fairchild said. "We hope this meeting will keep the momentum going."

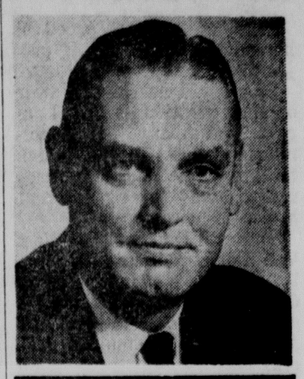

NEW PAVING RECORD SET

State Engineer John Hossack reported Tuesday that Missouri Valley Construction Co. has set up a new paving record by laying 6,796 feet of concrete paving on the Interstate highway between York and Henderson.

Hossack noted Monday's accomplishment surpassed by some 300 feet the previous single day record set by the Missouri Valley crew on July 8 between Waco and Beaver Crossing.

Slip-form paving units were used to lay the 24-foot wide, 9-inch deep reinforced concrete roadway and required placement of more than 4,530 cubic yards of concrete and 144,000 pounds of steel mesh on the 1.3 miles of new highway.

Supervising the record-breaking performance was J. A. Houfek, the department's project engineer, and T. B. Gibson, Missouri Valley superintendent.

Breed Not Big Factor In Contest

What is the best breed of horse to have for a 4-H project?

There was no clear answer to this question in the Lancaster Company 4-H horsemanship class Tuesday when the three top purple entries represented three different breeds of horses.

Barbara Dudek, 2000 West Van Dorn, rode an Arabian; Patty Mays, Rt. 3, rode a Quarter Horse; and Jan Conrad, 3440 Washington rode an Appaloosa to top purple honors.

"This just proves you can do well with any breed of horse, if you have a good animal and know what you are doing," commented a fair official.

Sen. Burbach Fears Urban-Rural Battle Over Road Funds

Sen. Jules Burbach warned Tuesday that the 1967 Legislature will be embroiled in an urban-rural battle for highway user revenue unless more dollars can be provided for highway construction through revenue bonds.

Burbach, chairman of the Legislative Council's roads study committee, said it proposed the revenue bond plan as a means of averting "a pitched battle" for highway and street funds.

One member of the committee, he said, has predicted that such a clash over revenue would be "a blood bath" coloring much of the legislation considered by the 1967 session.

Unsuccessful

Burbach's committee Monday unsuccessfully sought a meeting of all senators, sitting as the Legislative Council, to consider the bond proposal and his committee's plea that a special session of the Unicameral be summoned to place the issue on the 1966 general election ballot.

But the executive board of the Legislative Council declined to call such a meeting. Earlier, Gov. Frank Morrison rejected the Burbach committee's plea for a special session.

Voter approval of a constitutional amendment permitting the Legislature to authorize revenue bond financing of highway construction could provide the additional dollars to stave off a rural-urban battle, Burbach indicated, and meet critical highway and street needs throughout the state

Pie Too Small

Sen. Burbach said the 1967 Legislature, without an additional source of highway revenue, will be faced with "trying to divide a pie that is too small at the start for all the hungry people clamoring for it."

He said efforts will be made at the next session to divert to cities highway revenue which is presently allocated to rural areas.

"Because of the tremendous growth in population and the increased demands put upon their streets, our cities are in dire need of additional funds," the veteran lawmaker said in a prepared statement.

Great Need

"By the same token, counties with hundreds of miles of roads and sometimes bridges numbering in the thousands have just as great a need for highway dollars."

He continued:

"It was the hope of our committee that by going into a bond financing program at the earliest possible moment and thereby affording a new source of revenue to take care of our major critical needs . . . we could avoid what one of our committee members has prophesied will be a 'blood bath' on the floor of the legislature in the 1967 session.

"I am sorry beyond description that the members of the executive board who made the decision not to give us the opportunity we requested to explain things, to all our legislators . . . failed to see the consequences of their action yesterday".

Members of the executive board are Sens. William Hasebroock of West Point, Elvin Adamson of Valentine, Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, Eugene T. Mahoney of Omaha and Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln. Sens. Mahoney and Stromer are members of the roads study committee.

Motions to call senators together for the special briefing and to poll lawmakers on their feelings toward the briefing suggestion failed to generate the assent of a majority of the executive board.

44th St. To Close For Three Days

Water main construction will close 44th St., from Cornhusker Highway to Superior St., to traffic starting Wednesday.

The street will remain closed for three days, the city traffic engineering department said.

County Hears Denver Appraising Firm

Representatives of the appraising firm of Justin H. Haynes and Co. of Denver appeared before the Lancaster County Board Tuesday to offer its services in completing Lancaster County's mandatory reapraisal which must be under contract by 1968.

Lancaster County Board of Equalization Chairman William Grossman said other firms will be contacted to appear to present their offerings before a firm is appointed.

Max P. Arnold, vice president of Justin Haynes, told the board that his firm has everything necessary for a complete reappraisal.

He said that it might be more expensive than some other firms but that it could "compete in quality with anyone."

He pointed out that his firm had completed reappraisals in Sarpy, Adams and Butler Counties and the work was accepted completely by the state tax commissioner and State Board of Equalization.

Arnold explained that his company's services include providing own personnel, office space, complete new detailed records for the assessor's office, aerial maps of the county, photographs of every building and individual piece of property and holding hearings for taxpayers.

Mayor Okays Bid On Traffic Lights

Mayor Dean Peterson Tuesday approved the bid of Energy Enterprises Corp. to install traffic signal systems at the intersections of 16th and 17th and Vine.

The Energy bid was $9,000.

Mayor Informed Los Angeles' City Government 'Stands For Nothing'

Washington (AP)—Sen. Abraham Ribicoff told Mayor Samuel Yorty Tuesday that Los Angeles is a rich, powerful, boastful city with a hapless government that "doesn't stand for a damn thing."

The Connecticut Democrat said this was the picture that Yorty drew in two hours of telling a Senate panel about his city's problems—and contending that most of them are not within his jurisdiction.

"I think that the people of Los Angeles . . aren't doing very much to prevent another Watts," Ribicoff said.

Caustic

"Aren't you mayor of all the people?" asked Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y. "If they have a problem don't they look to you for leadership?"

"Yes," Yorty replied. "And they get it, too, as evidenced by the last election."

At one point Kennedy said while Yorty might not have responsibility for some things in his city "You are the mayor and it seems to me we could expect some leadership from you." That brought a sharp retort from the mayor:

"I don't need any lectures from you."

Kennedy acidly criticized Yorty's account of his administration, but Ribicoff added the sternest criticism.

"What bothers me, Sam," Ribicoff began mildly, "We do a lot of soul-searching, but as I listen to your testimony, you have waived authority and responsibility in the areas of education, welfare, transportation, employment, health and housing, which leaves you with certain ceremonial functions, police and recreation."

Fire, Sanitation

Yorty added the fire department and sanitation to his list of mayoral responsibilities

Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh offered one proposal for a rebirth of the cities—a 10-year drive with a price tag of $240 billion to $250 billion.

He told Ribicoff's subcommittee the money should go into an urban development fund, patterned on the economic development fund of the foreign aid program.

Cavanagh, president of the National League of Cities and the U.S. Conference of Mayors, said city problems should be placed near the top of the national agenda.

Colin Denies Accusations Of Running 'Smear Campaign'

Bob Colin, Democratic candidate for county sheriff, said Tuesday that accusations that he and his supporters are running a "smear campaign" are "unjust."

"I was indeed sorry to hear Lancaster County Republican Chairman Ed Weaver Jr." make the attack, Colin said.

"Evidently the matter Mr. Weaver has reference to was the statement I made that if elected I would devote full time to the important position, and be available 24 hours a day, "Colin said.

"My reason for making such a statement was to answer the legitimate question that has been asked me many times . . . would I be able to devote full time to the job?"

Colin suggested that Weaver "make a trip into the country and visit with the people that have reason to call the sheriff's office at all hours for help."

Colin charged that "there are and have been many shortcomings of first class law enforcement in the county sheriff's office."

Wendell Corey Fined $56 For Reckless Driving

Santa Monica, Calif. (UPI) —Actor Wendell Corey, 52, pleaded no contest Tuesday to a charge of reckless driving and was fined $56 by Municipal Judge Hector Baida.

A second charge of drunken driving was dismissed by the judge. Corey's attorney, David Durst, entered the plea for Corey, who did not appear in court.

Corey, a member of the Santa Monica city council and unsuccessful Republican candidate for Congress in the primary election last June, was arrested Sunday night.

Authorities said Corey's car struck a parked vehicle. He was not injured in the crash.

60 Teachers Attend Office Education Conference Here

Approximately 60 teachers attended the second day Wednesday of the eighth annual Distributive and Office Education Conference held this week at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

The Distributive Education Club of Nebraska composed of high school vocational teachers involved in programs to prepare students for jobs in business fields after graduation.

Tuesday's meetings were highlighted by a tour of the office practices laboratory in Nebraska City and an illustration of the Lozier marketing laboratory for members of the club.

The laboratories, on sale to schools, duplicate within the school business and marketing conditions for students.

In the student's last semester, the club arranges a part-time job for him with one of the businesses in the community so that he can apply classroom study under actual working conditions.

Membership of the club now stands at a record 700, a 100% increase over last year, John Elias, state director of business and distributive education in the Nebraska State Department of Education, pointed out.

The five-day conference will wind up Friday at about noon, following periods of summation and final reports during the morning.

2 City Banks Raise Prime Interest Rate

Two downtown banks have raised interest rates on prime interest loans from 5¾% to 6%.

The increases were made by First National Bank and National Bank of Commerce following similar increases in the rates of eastern banks.

City National Bank, in contrast, has made no change in rates.

Other banks throughout the city have retained old interest rates, or, as in the case of Gateway Bank, are not affected by the rate changes as they deal for the most part with private individuals.

Mason Suggests Sale Of Liquor, Beer Together

City Councilman John Mason has asked Public Safety Director Emmett Junge and the police department to study his suggestion that an operator be allowed to hold both a retail liquor license and an off-sale liquor license under one roof.

"I don't want to muddy the water," Maston told fellow council members earlier this week, referring to the present licensing situation, "but why must we have separate premises for liquor and beer".

He stressed that the city should retain its present limits on the number of licenses: 33 liquor and 64 beer, of which not more than 45 can be for consumption of beer on the premises.

Mason said that a change in the present law would improve enforcement by possibly reducing the total number of outlets and would also aid the consumer.

Subcommittee OKs Antiwar Acts Bill

Washington (AP)—A house un-American activities subcommittee approved unanimously Tuesday a bill that would provide stiff fines or imprisonment for anti-Viet Nam war activities.

The action was taken against the advice of the administration. Deputy Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said anti-Viet Nam war activities "can hardly be considered a threat to national security and, anyway, there is no need for new laws to deal with them.

The measure will be taken up Wednesday by the full committee and approval is expected.

The special subcommittee that acted Tuesday was the same group that had held recent public hearings on anti-war groups and activities. The hearings were enlivened by heckling, shouting and the physical ejection of one attorney and 50 spectators.

Members of the House Un-American Activities Committee sharply disagreed with Clark on the need for new laws.

"The fact there have been no prosecutions show this need," Rep. Joe R. Pool, D-Tex., said as the committee ended its public hearings.

The subcommittee approved a measure by Pool which would punish those who attempt to interfere with the movement of U.S. troops and supplies and those who solicit aid for the Viet Cong.

Unemployment Haunts Britain

London (AP)—The specter of growing unemployment haunted Britain's trade union movement Tuesday as the Labor government's economic squeeze began tightening.

Imperial Chemical Industries, the nation's biggest private employer, aroused the fears by firing 1,050 workers at three plants producing nylon fiber.

It was the largest cutback by any company since the government five weeks ago imposed drastic credit restrictions and froze wages and prices to stabilize the economy and restore confidence in the pound sterling.

The chemical layoff spelled more trouble for Prime Minister Harold Wilson in his battle to win a majority of Britain's 7.5 million unionists over to the government's economic measures.

The chemical company blamed high taxation and the credit squeeze for slowing the growth of its nylon division.

Peck Tells Senate Subcommittee Of Experiment In Pre-Trial Talks

Washington (AP)—Richard C. Peck, clerk of the U.S. District Court and U.S. commissioner in Nebraska, told a Senate judiciary subcommittee Tuesday of experiments with pre-trial conferences in the state.

The committee is considering a bill to abolish U.S. commissioners and establish in their place U.S. magistrates and deputy U.S. magistrates.

Peck said he hoped the experience in Nebraska would be helpful in study of the bill under which a full time magistrate would be available as a special master in appropriate cases and as a pre-trial examiner in civil cases.

Beginning Sept. 1, 1964, by order of the U.S. Court in Nebraska, responsibility for conducting pre-trial conferences in all civil cases set for trial in Omaha was delegated to him, Peck said.

"The initial results were so satisfactory that, by Dec. 1, the procedure was extended to the entire district and is so presently continuing," he testified.

The case load had reached a point where the judges were having difficulty in finding time to do systematic pre-trial work, he explained, adding:

"Now we feel that we have a persistent control of the movement of cases toward disposition. . ."

How medical knowledge fights acid indigestion

A leading stomach specialist reports that a little white penny tablet, with a special calcium-magnesium formula, beats products costing five and six times as much in fighting acid indigestion. The proof came from tests on over 100 people at a famous medical center. What is this remarkable tablet? TUMS®. Stomach specialists know TUMS is no mere candy mint. Tests show it is the medicine for acid indigestion. TUMS.

Morrison Backs Federal Aid To Train Personnel

Gov. Frank Morrison announced his support Tuesday for pending federal legislation which would assist state and local governments in improving the quality of their personnel and administrations.

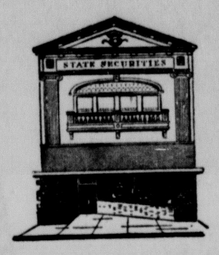

"The rapid increase in both size and responsibility of state and local government points clearly to the fact that one of our major problems in the years immediately ahead will be recruiting, training and retaining necessary qualified personnel," the governor said.

A proposed intergovernmental personnel act being considered by a Senate committee would among other things provide federal grants to state and local governments to improve personnel administration and training.

County Appeals Value Hikes

Lancaster County Tuesday filed notice of intent to appeal valuation increases for both rural and urban property set by the State Board of Equalization last week.

County Commissioners and County Attorney Paul Douglas said they had discussed the matter and were in agreement that the 42% urban and 44% rural increases for 1966 should be appealed to the Supreme Court.

Lancaster County lost its appeal of the 1965 valuations increases of 28% on urban and 15% on rural with the Supreme Court ruling these increases were valid.

This year's increases include those of last year because Lancaster County did not include the 1965 increases on its 1966 abstract since the case was pending in court at that time.

Keith County and Douglas County also filed notices of appeal Tuesday. The State Board hiked urban property 24% in Douglas County and rural property 71% in Keith County.

Keith County won its appeal of the 1965 increases.

Grainger Brothers Opposes County's Rehearing Request

Attorneys for Grainger Brothers Co. Tuesday asked the State Supreme Court to reject an appeal by Lancaster County for a rehearing in a key tax case.

On July 15 the high court ruled that personal property such as business inventories must be assessed at the same value as real estate for tax purposes. That is 35% of actual value.

The implications of the decision are far-reaching. Many counties now assess personal property at a higher level than land.

The court ruling came in a Lancaster County District Court ruling involving the Grainger Brothers inventories.

The high court reduced the assessed valuations of the wholesale grocery firm's inventories for the 1959 through 1962 tax years by $311,709. A tax refund of nearly $20,000 could result.

The firm has since been taken over by the Fleming Co.

Since the court's decision was unanimous, it is doubtful a rehearing will be granted.

Refunding Of Tax Payments To 4 Counties Studied

The State Justice Department said Tuesday it is studying the problem of refunding or crediting tax payments of property owners in four counties which successfully challenged property valuations placed on the counties by the state board of equalization last year.

The Supreme Court reversed the state board in whole or in part in lawsuits brought by Blaine, Keith, Garfield and Box Butte counties.

The tribunal nullified valuation hikes ordered for Keith, Garfield and Box Butte counties and instructed the state board to hold a new hearing to determine the value of Blaine County property for 1965 tax purposes.

A special meeting of the state board is expected to be scheduled soon to deal with the Blaine County problem.

Red Cross Relations With Youth Discussed

Discussion swung from International Red Cross activities to the services and structure of the national organization and its relation to youth Tuesday at the ninth annual Nebraska State Leadership Training Center.

Approximately 117 delegates of high school age from a five-state area are attending the five-day seminar being held this week at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

Tuesday's meeting featured a panel discussion on "Youth and Red Cross Services" moderated by King Bogardus, assistant manager of the Douglas/Sarpy County chapter of the Red Cross, and an orientation session concerning public information led by Georgia Rogers, public information director of the Douglas/Sarpy County chapter.

The conference is intended to "develop leadership in all aspects of life as well as in Red Cross work," according to Mrs. Rogers. "We are attempting to instill leadership in students through knowledge and training in Red Cross services," she said.

The students have so far studied the Red Cross's blood program, the office of volunteers, water safety and first aid, community services, nursing services and disaster procedures, Mrs. Rogers said.

Future study will include workshops on other Red Cross services with continued emphasis on the function that youth can provide.

The meetings will break up Thursday following a banquet Wednesday featuring Gov. Frank B. Morrison and graduation exercises Thursday morning.

NEWS

of suburbia, as was Gaul, is divided into three parts

"Gallia est omnis divisa in partes tres" and so is this morning's news of Lincoln's suburban areas. For, there are three types of newsmakers today. They are the vacationers, the families on the move and the participants in suburbia's social life.

SOUTH HILLS

Despite the weatherman's predictions and stormy skies, residents along Worthington held their neighborhood picnic on Saturday. It had been in the planning stages for about two weeks, and Saturday's rain didn't dampen the spirits it only relocated the picnic site to the basement of the Leon Starkey residence. Those taking part in the evening's fun were Mr. and Mrs. Don Sharp, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Johnson and Susan, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Nelson and their children, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sommerhalter and Mrs. Alver Vicon and her daughter, Peggy, and Alyce Kennedy. The highlight of the evening was the special treat of homemade ice cream.

Among the travelers in today's news are Mr. and Mrs. Emory Coonrod and their children, Kathy, Kim and Jamee Ann, who recently returned from a three week trip to points westward. The vacation included stops in San Francisco, Sacramento, and San Bernardino, Calif., as well as points in Washington and Oregon and Yellowstone National Park.

PRAIRIE VALLEY

The golden wedding anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rovie in St. Paul, Minn., was cause for a short trip for Mrs. Forrest Shrader last week. Mrs. Shrader traveled with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Legler and their children, Patrick and Christine to the weekend celebration. She returned home alone, however, since the Legler family decided to extend their Minnesota stay to a vacation holiday.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

Park Rapids, Minn., and the Trails End Lodge was the goal of the Theodore Kester family when they left Lincoln on Friday evening for their week's vacation stay. Fishing was planned as the chief activity for the Kester children, Teddy, Deborah, Kirk, Jane and Theresa, while their parents planned to spend their efforts towards just plain relaxation.

THE TALK

around the town

In case you didn't know it, the World Rowing Trials are to be held in Bled, Yugoslavia early in September. The what, where and when of the above statement won't mean a thing—until we tell you that a young man from Lincoln is participating in them.

Francis Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Watson, will leave next Tuesday for Yugoslavia where he and his rowing team will represent the Union Boat Club of Boston at the world trials.

Mr. Watson, who will be a junior at Yale University this year, attended summer school at Harvard University and served as a member of the Harvard crew. At the rowing competition at Bled he will race in the 'Single Four Without Coxswain' category, and will be the 'stroke.' Mr. Watson and his particular group will race on Sept. 9 and 10, and will return to the States on Sept. 20.

Also in case you didn't know—Myers B. (Bud) Cather will be arriving today from New Canaan, Conn., for a brief visit and to celebrate the birthday anniversary of his mother, Mrs. Howard B. Cather. The official birthday is on Saturday, but because of Mr. Cather's arrival from the east coast, the family will celebrate on Thursday. The affair is to be a picnic for each and every member of the family, and it will be held at the Cather farm, Hi-C Acres.

Maybe you already know that Mrs. James Rice (Ting Lilly) and her daughter, Jami, are in town—the guests of Mrs. Rice's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lilly.

This weekend Mr. and Mrs. Lilly, Mrs. Rice and young Jami, will be going to Shawnee Mission, Kan., for the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Lilly's grandson, Dick Siebs, and Miss Vicki Hesler which will take place on Saturday at St. Agnes Church in Shawnee Mission.

Off on a holiday trip with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight J. Wilson of Wichita, Kan., is Miss Jan Williams, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jon T. Williams, who is spending a month in Hawaii. Miss Williams, incidentally, was the surprised recipient of special honors on the boat when she was named "Miss Lurline" for the trip. Miss Williams will return home Sept. 4, just in time to pack her suitcases for her departure on Sept. 7, to resume studies at Gulf Park College, Gulfport, Miss., where she serves as a student council representative.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2♠	Pass	2NT	Pass
3♥	Pass	4♦	Pass
4♥	Pass	5♥	Pass

Opening lead—six of hearts.

There was no use ever asking Sylvia why she had made a certain bid, or why she had made a certain play, even though the bid or play might be the kind that would cause most players to begin to question their own sanity.

Sylvia had her own ideas about how to play the game, and anyone who attempted to question her at length along rational lines would inevitably wind up that much closer to the booby hatch.

Her thoughts at the bridge table followed what seemed to her to be logical lines, yet, at the same time, these thoughts appeared to others in the club so far removed from reality that she was able to establish firmly and quickly her reputation as the club's zaniest player.

Naturally, Sylvia's perplexing pyrotechnics produced weird results in some hands, but not all of these reacted to her disadvantage. Occasionally she would score an unexpected triumph by her methods, and it was this occasional triumph which in time made her the most talked-about member of the club.

One day she was playing in the expert game and had the East hand. South was in six hearts and West led a trump. Sylvia covered the ten with the jack and declarer took the ace and played a low spade to the eight.

Of course, most players with Sylvia's hand would have taken the eight with the queen, but, being Sylvia, she took it with the ace. Sylvia then led back a trump.

Apparently South was deceived by Sylvia's play of the ace because he proceeded to draw the last trump, cash the king of spades, and then lead the jack of spades.

When West followed low, South confidently discarded a club from dummy, feeling certain that Sylvia did not have the queen. He then went into a state of shock when Sylvia took the queen and wrote down 100 points on the score.

We Hear That

Enjoying a month's travels in England, Scotland, Ireland, Scandinavian and European countries is Mrs. Dorothy Switzer. Upon her arrival in London last Saturday, Mrs. Switzer was greeted by Mrs. Katherine Gillies and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Simpson of Kentford, West Suffolk, who have been frequent visitors to Lincoln. Mrs. Switzer also visited with Dr. and Mrs. Jack Sosin of Lincoln, who are spending a year in London while Dr. Sosin is on leave from the University of Nebraska history department.

Mrs. Emil Janousek has returned home from Midland, Mich., where she visited her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Meier, (Rosemary Janousek) and greeted her new grandson, John Frederick Meier, who was born on Wednesday, Aug. 10. The newcomer's parents are both alumni of the University of Nebraska, and his grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Janousek of Lincoln, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meier of Coleridge.

ABBY

budget plans a 'must'

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please don't thing I am money-minded when I probably should have only "love" on my mind, but I have a question to ask. I am engaged to be married in December, and my fiance and I have never talked about money. I know he has a good job, but I don't know how much he makes. I don't even know if he carries any insurance other than what he has on his car.

I work, and intend to work a while after I'm married, but I don't know if I should plan on supporting myself or not. Should we have a joint checking and savings account? Would it be wrong of me to bring up these things before we are married?

DECEMBER BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: It would be wrong NOT to! Every couple should work out a budget together before marriage and decide how much to spend on rent, entertainment, insurance, clothing, and even daily allowances. And don't forget to anticipate vacations, illnesses, and accidents. (All kinds!)

DEAR ABBY: I have always heard that a seven months baby would not have any eyebrows or fingernails.

Well, our dear little neighbor girl was married barely seven months and she had this beautiful child with long fingernails and plenty of eyebrows. Everybody in town is talking, and the girl's mother really thinks it is a seven months baby.

This girl finished college and had a lovely white wedding. Please put your answer in the paper.

WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WANTS: You are off base a country mile and several months. Seven month babies DO have fingernails and eyebrows. And now, what's YOUR problem lady?

Confidential to W. W. J.: Don't despair. Show me a man who never made a mistake and I'll show you a man who has never made anything. The only people who are above making mistakes are below the sod.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CLUBS
race toward autumn deadline

Miss Mercedes Tevebaugh (at right), president of the Lincoln chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma society for women educators, is pictured at the recent convention in Cleveland with Mrs. Nell McMains of Texas, new president of the international organization.

The "unseasonable" August weather may be a bit daunting to swimmers and divers but it's a boon to the officers and committee members of feminine organizations about town — up to their ears in plans and projects with a rapidly-approaching September deadline for that first meeting of the fall.

One of the busiest groups in the city is the committee of University of Nebraska Faculty Women's Club members responsible for the organization's Nearly New Shop — which incidentally has an opening date of Wednesday, Sept. 7.

Established to assist university students — single, married, young or old, freshman or graduate — the shop at 1601 R, is filled with clothes and books, household equipment and baby supplies, in fact, anything that a student might need and at ridiculously low prices.

The shop is stocked by club members and friends through the Faculty Women's annual "Bundle Tea" in the spring, and in addition to aiding the students, the shop's profit is turned over to the club's big project, Student Loan Fund scholarships. The profit last year, which is matched by the National Defense Scholarship Fund, was approximately $600 — and that's a lot of dimes and quarters.

Mrs. Dudley Bailey, president of the Faculty Women's Club, has announced the appointment of the following club chairmen: program, Mrs. Michael Meyer; reservations, Mrs. Wesley Reist, Mrs. Desmond Wheeler; Nearly New Shop, Mrs. Dave Williams and Mrs. Richard Bradley; nursery, Mrs. Rafael Sanchez; interest groups, Mrs. James Cole; scholarships, Mrs. Galen Saylor; publicity, Mrs. Erwin Goldenstein; and honorary members, Mrs. Marcus Weldon.

Club officers include Mrs. Roy Gossage, first vice president; Mrs. August Dreier, second vice president; Mrs. Neal Copple, third vice president; Mrs. Dean Rugg, secretary; and Mrs. T. M. Stout, treasurer.

The Newcomers Group of the Faculty Women's Club is off to an early start in the fall, welcoming the wives of new faculty and staff and planning activities for the year which include contributing to the club's scholarship fund and staging an annual spring fashion show.

Mrs. Clayton Yeutter is president of the Newcomers, assisted by Mrs. Russell Meints, vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Robert Reed, secretary; and Mrs. Royce Ronning, treasurer.

Home from Cleveland, Ohio, and the international convention of Delta Kappa Gamma honor society is Miss Mercedes Tevebaugh, president of Lincoln's Zeta Chapter of the organization.

Miss Tevebaugh was one of nearly 2,000 women educators (elementary through college and university) attending the biennial meeting earlier this month. With approximately 2,000 chapters in the United States and Canada, the society is a professional honorary for women educators who have demonstrated leadership in education.

Assisting Miss Tevebaugh with plans for a new year of programs and activities are officers of the Zeta Chapter including Mrs. Glenn Updegraft, first vice president; Mrs. Morris Huelle, second vice president: Miss Francis Buell, recording secretary; Mrs. E. H. Goldenstein, corresponding secretary; Miss Beunice Doty, treasurer; and Mrs. Leonard Campbell, parliamentarian.

Lincoln chapters of Kappa Kappa Iota teachers honor sorority are making plans for a new year of monthly programs.

At the meeting of Beta Conclave, held last Saturday following a luncheon at Colonial Inn, Mrs. Mary Holm, program chairman, announced a series of programs to feature, "Fine Arts In Nebraska."

Mrs. Esther Yung is president of the group and other officers are Mrs. Gail Beal of Beatrice, vice president; Mrs. Grace Murray, secretary; snd Mrs. Merna Fahrlander, treasurer.

Members of Alpha Conclave are making plans for their first meeting of the year, to be held early in September with Mrs. Camile Wolcott and Mrs. Alice Munnis as hostesses.

Miss Phebe Randles is president of the group assisted by Mrs. Ethe Axthelm, vice president; Mrs. Ethel Melson, secretary; and Miss Noeline Ficke, treasurer.

President of Theta Conclave is Miss Virginia Haba and other officers of the group are Mrs. Virginia Hagemeier and Mrs. Betty Broers.

Outdoor Beauty

That lovely fair complexion of yours was never meant to stand up to the harsh summer weather. Be kind to it, see that it is well protected when you're golfing, lazing on the beach, or anywhere in the great outdoors. Wear a wide, shady hat and sunglasses—this will keep you from squinting your eyes. Before you venture out smooth on your oil of Olay before making-up, and don't forget your neck. Your skin will maintain a milky look despite the drying effect of the summer.

Married At Chapel Ceremony

The chapel of St. Paul Methodist Church was lighted by white candles burning in branched candleabra for the marriage of Miss Diane Korb, daughter of Mrs. J. E. Kutlas, and of Raymond Korb of Humboldt, to Gary Dahlheim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dahlheim of North Bend, on Sunday evening, Aug. 21. The service was solemnized at 7 o'clock by Dr. Harold Sandall.

As her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. Gene Bowman of Austin, Tex., was frocked in coral pink peau de soie trimmed with Chantilly lace. Miss Margaret Helget and Miss Cathy Budler, the bridesmaids, wore frocks in a deeper shade of coral.

Serving as best man was Bob Dahlheim of North Bend, and seating the guests were Stan Johnson, Fremont; Tom Zinnert, Ross Black and David Winkelman, North Bend; and Ken Grant.

Mr. Dahlheim, a senior at the University of Nebraska and a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity, and his bride will reside at 2140 So. 35th.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, substract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

More Than Bouncing Balls

Four Lincoln High seniors learned last week that summer camps can be more than bouncing basketballs, kicking footballs, hitting baseballs, swimming, hiking and sleeping.

The quartet — Chip Maly, Steve McKelvey, Bill Strain and Terry Moore — made the discovery by attending the annual Fellowship of Christian Athletes' camp at Estes Park, Colo.

"It was a great experience," explains Chip. "It puts spiritual inspiration together with sports," chimes in Moore.

God And Athletes

While the FCA camp is not void of athletic activity, its main theme revolves around God, a fact which sports personalities such as Arkansas football coach Frank Broyles, pro basketball star Bob Pettit, Arkansas quarterback Jon Brittenum, and Paul Anderson, the world's strongest human, drive home to the boys in attendance.

"They all explained how God had helped them and what He had meant to them in athletics," recalls Chip.

The camping youngsters were reminded daily through athletic comparisons of their role in life.

"If the whole team were pitchers, who would cover third?" they were asked. "Or if the whole team were halfbacks, who would snap the ball?"

The idea of the camp was illustrated by what the youngsters overheard one person in their midst say: "I came here to meet a lot of great athletes, but the greatest guy I met is Jesus Christ."

Athletics, Too—Olympics

Athletic activity at the camp centered around the Dog-Patch Olympics, competition in a variety of sports involving the huddle groups.

Chip was a member of the Hairless Joes, Steve on the Scraggs, Bill on the Injun Joes and Terry on the Moonbeam McSwines.

None of the four were able to boost their team to the championship in the Dog-Patch Olympics with Chip's Hairless Joes getting the highest finish—a third with 54 points.

Bill's Injun Joes were close behind with 52 points, while Steve's Scraggs had 42 and Terry's Moonbeam McSwines 24.

Came Back Inspired

And the quartet of Lincoln High seniors aren't ready to forget what they learned at Estes Park.

"We would like to set up a chapter at Lincoln High," Chip points out. "And we are already working on it."

Chip, the only one of the quartet not currently busy with football practice at Lincoln High, has visited with Links basketball coach Alden Johnson about helping them set up the chapter.

"According to FCA rules, you only need four for a chapter and we already have that right here," Chip noted, pointing to his three companions. "But we'd like to get a lot more people interested in it."

The four boys are likely to get plenty of help from Johnson, who started them thinking about attending the camp, and from Nebraska assistant football coach Tom Osborne, who served on the staff at Estes Park.

21 Lettermen To Return For Peru Workouts

. . . BOBCATS OPEN SEPT. 10 AT TARKIO COLLEGE; SCHOOL IN 100TH YEAR

Peru—Nearly 90 Peru State College football candidates will report Monday for the opening practice sessions of the 1966 gridiron season.

The 1966-67 academic year at Peru State marks the College's 100th birthday year.

The Bobcats will have but 12 days of practice to prepare for the opener at Tarkio (Mo.) College on Sept. 10.

With 21 lettermen expected to return from last year's total of 35 monogram winners, head coach Ervin Pitts hints cautiously that his Bobcats should be at least as strong as last year's squad which came on late to win a tie for the NCC crown and post a 4-5 record.

Peru State's schedule lists nine games—five of them on the road. The road dates: Sept. 10, Tarkio (Mo.) College; Sept. 17, St. Mary of the Plains, Dodge City, Kans.; Oct. 1, Kearney State; Oct. 15, Wayne State; Oct. 29, Doane College at Crete.

Peru State will open its home season Sept. 24 when they host Northwest Missouri State. Chadron State invades on Oct. 8, and the annual Homecoming game will be against Hastings College on Oct. 22. Missouri Valley College, a newcomer to Peru grid opponents, closes the season with a game in Peru's Oak Bowl on Nov. 5.

Following last year's three-way tie for the Nebraska College Conference championship between Peru, Kearney and Wayne, this year's loop scramble appears to be a toss-up.

Early nod goes to always-potent Kearney State, but observers feel that Peru and Wayne have shots. Chadron State is reportedly much improved, and Hastings could rebound to heights predicted for last year before the Broncos' so-so season.

The Peru State list of expected returnees reveal experience at all positions, with depth the greatest problem at center and halfbacks.

With the academic loss of Curt Holliman, Rockford, Ill., Peru State's halfback positions suffered a big loss. Present plans include the shifting of Lowell Brown, East Alton, Ill., to the offensive platoon where he lettered two years ago. Other halfback lettermen include sophomores Jim Hagemeier, Beatrice, and Nick Petrillo, Granite City, Ill. Hagemeier was a starter throughout most of last season while Petrillo saw only spot service.

Two sophomore quarterback lettermen return. Carl Satterfield will be back after a spectacular freshman year. The Chicagoan should be better than ever. Doug Winfield, Granite City, Ill., sophomore, understudied Satterfield last year and showed poise in his spot performances.

At the fullback position, the Bobcats will have to go with inexperience. George Evangelist, Newark, N.Y., and Harold VanArsdale, Mt. Morris, Ill., are the returning lettermen. VanArsdale saw considerable defensive action last year as a freshman. A senior Evangelist played behind Jim Kollbaum last year. The latter quit school at the close of last year's fall semester.

In the line the Bobcats lost Bill Witty, Syracuse; Phil Malone, Plattsburg, Mo., Floyd Goff, Nebraska City, and Jim Manning Slidell, La. Only Paul Fell, Worcester, Mass., returns as a replacement for Witty at the center position.

Fell saw considerable service last year while Witty mended injuries in mid-season. Additional center help will have to come from untried performers.

Two-year All-NCC performer Bernie Brown, Rockford, Ill., returns for his fourth year at the guard position. Other guard lettermen include Lee Dunekacke, Johnson, Paul Vavra, Exeter, and Bob Urwin, Rockaway, N.J. Urwin, a two-year letterman, again will be used primarily at the linebacking position where he is among the best in the state.

Four letter winners return at tackle. Big John Gilmore, Shenandoah, Iowa, and Chuck Mizerski, Granite City, Ill., were regarded as starters last year but Bruce Vickrey, Princeton, Ill., and Bill Everhart, Bedford, Iowa, logged considerable time.

Peru State has its finest crop of ends in years returning, headed by three-year letterman Al Sullivan, Worcester, Mass. Tim Logsdon, Macomb, Ill., and Ron Yates, Granite City, Ill., have each earned two letters at end. Sophomores John Creamer, Worcester, Mass., last year's leading pass receiver, and Bert Faulkner, Paulsboro, N.J., will return to give the Bobcats a total of five end lettermen.

Coach Pitts expects 30 to 40 newcomers, plus returning squadmen, to report to the Bobcat grid camp. Among them are some highly regarded rookies who should push Peru veterans for starting positions.

The Bobcats will run from the split-T formation with some pro-set offense thrown in. Assisting Pitts in the coaching ranks will be Jack McIntire and Joe Pelisek. Bob Gates, Shenadoah, Iowa, a senior at Peru State and a former letterman at the State University of Iowa, also will assist.

GIANTS TAKE OVER 1ST

Brown's Homer Topples Reds

. . . MARICHAL WINS 18TH

By The Associated Press

Juan Marichal pitched the San Francisco Giants back into first place in the National League Tuesday night as the Giants beat Cincinnati 7-3.

Marichal chalked up his 18th victory of the season helped by a three-run homer by Ollie Brown, playing center field for the resting Willie Mays.

The victory put the Giants one game ahead of the Pittsburgh Pirates who were beaten by Philadelphia 5-4. Los Angeles rallied for three runs in the last of the ninth to beat Atlanta 8-7 in another West Coast night game. Willie Davis' two-out single drove in the tying and winning runs for the Dodgers.

Bill White starred in the Phillies' win over Pittsburgh. He drove in four runs with a pair of bases-loaded singles. Elsewhere, pitchers held the spotlight.

Dean Chance of the California Angels and Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals pitched three-hitters, Chance shutting out the New York Yankees 1-0 and Gibson blanking Houston 3-0.

Sam McDowell hurled a six-hitter as Cleveland nipped American league leading Baltimore 2-1. But second place Detroit failed to gain ground as Gary Peters limited the Tigers to seven hits and pitched Chicago to a 2-1 victory in 12 innings.

Jim Kaat won his 19th game for Minnesota, blanking Washington on five hits as the Twins won the first game of a twi-night doubleheader 7-0. The Senators won the nightcap 4-3 on Willie Kirkland's pinch homer.

In the only day game played Tuesday, Dennis Ribant's five-hitter helped the New York Mets to a 4-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

White's second bases-loaded single of the night in the seventh inning broke a 3-3 tie and helped Chris Short to his 15th victory. Roberto Clemente hit a threerun homer for the Pirates.

Chance, who pitched his first shutout of the season, got the only run he needed in the fourth inning when Bob Rodgers singled, moved to second on a ground out and scored on one of Paul Schall's three hits.

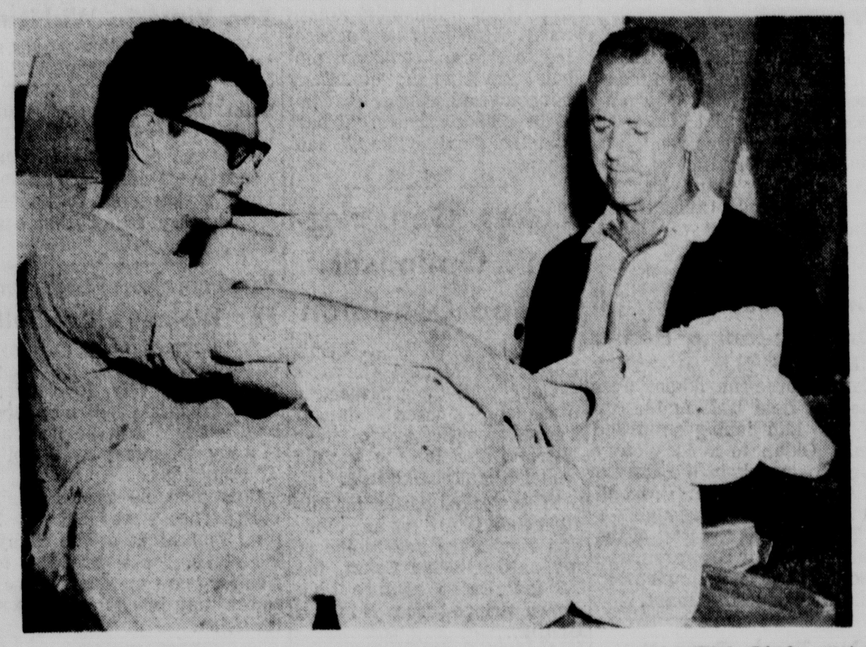

Gibson won his 16th game with Dal Maxvill driving in two runs and scoring the other for the Cardinals. Maxvill had a perfect night with a double, two singles and a walk.

McDowell struck out 10 in beating the Orioles. Rocky Colavito homered for the Indians as McDowell, who had gone seven weeks without a victory, won his second inside of five days.

Peters had the Tigers shut out until there were two out in the ninth but Norm Cash tied the score with his 21st home run. The White Sox then won it in the 12th on Wayne Causey's sacrifice fly.

Rich Rollins' grand slam homer in the third gave Kaat all the cushion he needed against the Senators. Kirkland's leadoff homer in the eighth won the nightcap for Washington.

Cleon Jones smashed a two-run homer as Ribant won his ninth game and fourth against the Cubs.

Richert To Drive At Nebraska Fair

. . . ONE OF TOP RACERS

Nebraska State Fair racing fans will have a chance to watch one of the winningest sprint car drivers in the International Motor Contest Association during the three days of speedway action on Sept. 3, 4 and 5.

Jerry Richert of Forest Lake, Minn. notified racing officials that he'd be in competition with the powerful Wagner Chevrolet powered sprint car.

Richert is going after his third straight International Motor Contest Association championship, and he's nearly got the title sewed up. But, a sweep of the Nebraska State Fair races, and the championship trophy will be all Richerts.

Richert's racing story is one of success and hard times. He started out as a four dollar a day farmhand in Central Minnesota, and as a youngster loved to tinker with engines.

One day he was asked to help as mechanic on a local stock car—this started the "Golden Gopher's" career in the sport of speed.

He soon found out that there was more money in racing and he made the important switch. His first major victory came in Kansas City back in 1959.

He won the national super modified title in 1962, then in 1964 the first of his two IMCA big car titles. He's an all-out competitor, likes to ride high next to the fence and according to car-owner Frank Wagner, a St. Paul businessman, is easy on the equipment.

Several other sprint stars have also forwarded entry blanks for the three days of racing. Thad Dosher of Topeka, Kan. in a Dodge powered rig, Tom Bigelow of Whitewater, Wis., co-rookie of the year in '65, is in with a Chevy powered car and so is Chuck Lynch of Springfield, Ill.

The super modifieds will race one day only, on Sept. 8, at the Nebraska State Fair. All races are in the daytime.

Youthful 'Red Guard' Now China's Most Activist Group

Hong Kong (AP)—The most activist group in Communist China today is the youthful "Red Guard," assigned to forcibly impress on the Chinese people the need to fall in step with the latest anti-party purge.

In their zeal to carry out what the Chinese communist leaders call a cultural revolution, the teen-age student group has chalked up some remarkable performances, according to reports received in Hong Kong.

They spat on their teachers in the University of Peking after the president, Lu Ping, was fired for antiparty activities.

On the university campus in Shanghai they forced two professors to parade naked.

Wearing red neckerchiefs and red armbands, they have taken to the streets in Peking to rip down signs on shops and stores having "capitalist" connotations, and name streets and bridges with names they regard as exemplifying revolution. Shopkeepers were terrorized.

Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, reported from Peking that members of the Red Guard roughly treated two Yugoslav correspondents, and also prevented a Soviet diplomat from going to the airport to see an African notable off for Moscow.

All of this has won them praise from the party leadership. The People's Daily, official party organ, hailed them for "their proletarian revolutionary rebel spirit."

The students are said to regard themselves as not only the future leaders of China but of the entire world.

Face Slashed

Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia (UPI)—Member of Parliament Tan Chin Bee was slashed on the face by two men while on his way to address parliament on smuggling activities here. He was not seriously hurt.

LBJ Orders Fast Probe Of Medical Costs

Washington (UPI)—President Johnson, apparently worried about criticism of the medicare program, Tuesday ordered a "hard and very quick look" into rising medical costs.

The start of the government's medical insurance program for the elderly in July was accompanied by charges that it would force a marked increase in medical costs.

The demand for a "major study" of medical costs was revealed by John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, during a visit to the White House.

Gardner named William Gorham, assistant HEW secretary for program coordination, to head the study, to be completed as soon as possible.

Gardner said the President claimed medical costs rose 3.4% during the last six months, and personally requested the study.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, which keeps a monthly tab on prices, said the six-month increase was actually 2.8%. There was no immediate explanation of Johnson's figure.

Questioned sharply by newsmen, Arnold Chase, assistant labor statistics commissioner, denied that medicare had much to do with pushing up medical costs. Instead, he cited large increases in doctor and hospital fees. Drugs, the third item in determining medical costs, have remained relatively stable for the past four or five years, he said.

Solon Concerned About Religious Question

Washington (UPI)—A House member expressed concern Tuesday that a census question asking Americans to list their religion conceivably could lead to a "secret police state."

The chief census taker, A. Ross Eckler, listened to the warnings by Rep. Cornelius Gallagher, D-N.J., and said he still felt a religious question would be valuable in the next census. But he doubted it would be asked because of the anticipated "emotional" protest.

Gallagher as a witness before the House census subcommittee took a grave view of reports that the 1970 census takers were thinking of asking people to state their religious preference. He said this would be "a dangerous step backward" and could lead to a "secret police state."

Gallagher, who heads another House subcommittee investigating invasions of privacy, said, "We cannot and should not forget that it was just such a system that facilitated the mass murders in Germany during the 1930s and '40s."

Eckler acknowledged that religion was a controversial area and the question—"What is your religion?" — might be so objectionable to many people, it might be scratched. But he said it had not been ruled out yet.

Eckler conceded that such a question could stir up the loudest howls since the census takers first started asking people how much money they made. That question — now standard — was first asked in 1940 and many people still object to answering it.

Also under active consideration as a possible requirement for the 1970 census is a roundup of all Social Security numbers attached to census data. Eckler said a poll conducted in Minnesota showed that 92% of the people would not object to listing a Social Security number but 36% thought a religious question was improper.

In a statement submitted to the subcommittee, Morris B. Abraham, president of the American Jewish Congress, protested any requirement for a religious declaration.

Federal Judge Dead

New York (UPI)—John C. Knox, a federal judge here for 46 years, died after a long illness. He was 84.

Rev. Edgar Quits State Leadership Of Church Of God

The Rev. W. L. Edgar has resigned his post as state overseer of the Church of God to take a similar position in Kansas.

Edgar, who served in Nebraska for four years, will be succeeded by the Rev. Gene D. Rice of Birmingham, Ala.

During Edgar's period of leadership, the Church of God has more than doubled its property value in Nebraska. Total membership has increased almost 30%.

Local Church Aid For Job Corps Attracts Interest

The involvement of the Lincoln religious community in the Lincoln Job Corps Center has captured the interest of national Job Corps officials, Center Director J. O. Grantham reported Tuesday.

He said Mrs. Virginia Gilbert, director of community relations for the Lincoln center, has been invited to present a formal paper on the unique activity of Lincoln religious groups.

She will present the paper at a national conference on community relations and public affairs in Washington, sponsored by the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity, Grantham said.

She is scheduled to address the conference Wednesday.

A number of religious groups recently incorporated into a non-profit Lincoln Interfaith Job Corps Committee. It leased quarters in downtown Lincoln to develop as a downtown lounge for Lincoln corpsmen.

TEEN MAN SHOP, DOWNTOWN & GATEWAY

Sunny days around the scatter with the fringe of mortgage on top. "Due to increased taxes, your monthly payments must be raised to etc."

This is the financial word from the people who hold the paper.

I could question this haughty demand. But find whenever I read the fine print in a contract, it was the other guy who wrote it.

Was a time when I had no house. My income was low but my spirits were high.

I juggled my money. I didn't try to keep too many plates in the air.

Monday was payday. By Friday, naturally, we were flat broke but had found ways to face the weekend.

Mine was a watch. It pawned solidly for $5. Fridays I laid the watch on the counter and got the five. Mondays I paid $5.50 and got it back. I didn't worry about interest rates. I took the fin and bought red wine and French bread and lived it up.

What did I care what time it was? The rich do not have to count time.

Hard work and free enterprise — those twin safety men of Horatio Alger, Jr. — were my downfall.

By work and enterprise I built up the income.

I quit hocking my watch. I put money in the bank. The banker lent me a little — and I didn't have to give him the watch. I gave him my soul.

He clipped his cigar with a solid gold cutter and gave me approving nods when I came in to deposit.

When I got enough credit rating, I put the arm on him for a rose-covered cottage. The mortgage was a little thorny, but I tried not to stick myself.

I borrowed a little more and financed a car.

I got a tax attorney and a brass - buttoned blazer for weekends. I got a psychiatrist and a twice-a-year checkup. I took aspirin.

The federal bagmen sent examiners over to look at my books. Why I did this and that. You can't get much more successful.

I bought some stock. In order to keep worried about it, I subscribed to a marketing news letter. At dinners I could speak sadly of taxes and corporate earnings.

I gave up that reliable watch. I took it in one day and the pawnbroker said: "This watch is getting a little old. I can only let you have $4."

I took the $4. I never went back. I bought an expensive Audemars-Piguet. It has to be sent back to Switzerland for its twice-a-year checkup.

I no longer can get my hands on cash money. Accountants and financial advisers and banks impound my checks. They pay out what I owe. I owe plenty.

By successful maneuvers, the bank and I are almost partners. The banker giveth and he taketh away — quite a bundle he taketh.

"Lay off the French bread and red wine," said the medic. "I was raised on that stuff," I cried. "Well, you're all grown," he said.

The tax attorney collected enough that he now worries about his taxes. I got a second mortgage on the house to patch up the first which was getting holes in it.

So by working diligently, I managed to organize a very complicated life. It involves tricky finance. It gives employment to doctors and lawyers, bankers and snoopers from the tax office.

All from ambition and a $5 watch and plenty of time to think of ways to get into trouble.

Klusman Is King Of Hamburgers

Alpena, Mich.—Everywhere in the country it seems there is some kind of "hamburger king" selling bigger and better hamburgers and far more of them than anyone else, and the Nebraska Air National Guard is no exception. It has its own hamburger king, too, and his name is S.Sgt. Jim Klusman of 3629 So. 19th St. in Lincoln.

Klusman volunteered his services to the "Under 21 Club" here in Alpena where the Nebraska Air Guard is involved in summer field training at the Phelps-Collins Air National Guard Base and his services, during his off-duty hours, have made him the Nebraska ANG Hamburger King.

Klusman is not claiming to sell bigger or even better hamburgers—but he can claim to sell more of them and no one here is complaining about the quality.

So far, he has prepared and sold over 1,800 of them, 1,600 of them in the first week of field training alone. Klusman said he could cook as many as 500 in one six and a half hour session, and in one evening alone he sold over 350.

The "Under 21 Club," operated by Airman 1C. Cliff Hollestelle of 3410 Frost Ct. in Lincoln, is supervised by the Personnel Services Office of the Nebraska Air Guard for personnel under the age of 21.

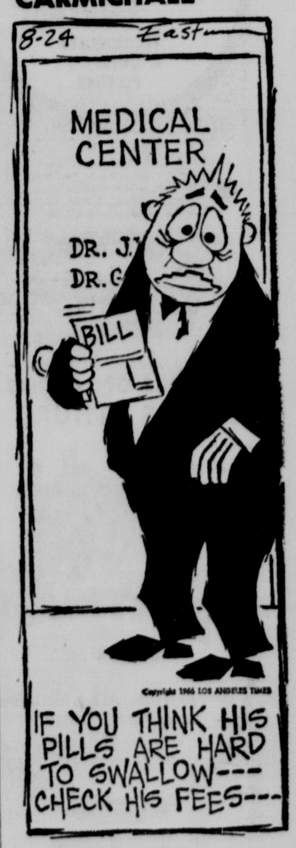

It provides recreational facilities, food and non-alcoholic beverages from 4:30 to 11:00 every night for young Nebraska airmen who are off duty.

Apparently Sgt. Klusman has set the all-time record for the sale of hamburgers at Alpena, or at least his efforts have proven to be sufficiently unique to lead Hollestelle to erect a plaque in the "Under 21 Club" marking Klusman's achievement.

Without doubt, Klusman is the undisputed hamburger king of the Nebraska Air Guard, and the plaque in the club itself should stimulate some interest and perhaps some competition by other Air Guard units at Alpena for summer field training.

There is even some talk about establishing an annual "Klusman Hamburger Award" for what might be called "Meritorious Service in the Preparation and Sale of Hamburgers" at Phelps-Collins ANG Base.

Alexandria, Egypt (AP) — The Arab Anti-Israel Boycott Bureau reported 213 Western firms in the first six months this year gave notice that they had stopped dealing with Israel and would prefer to deal with Arab countries. It said 73 Western companies and 37 ships were blacklisted by the bureau in that period for dealing with Israel and 18 ships were removed from the blacklist. No names were mentioned.

Orbiter's Photos Fail To Reveal Necessary Details

Hampton, Va. (AP) — Lunar Orbiter's first close-up photographs of the moon failed to show small surface details necessary to select suitable landing sites for America's Apollo astronauts, a national space agency spokesman reported Tuesday.

The trouble, in the high resolution portion of Orbiter's camera, appears to be caused by "a spurious electronic signal from the image motion compensator which triggers the shutter as the film is moving through the camera," the spokesman said.

However, he added, "We are continuing the mission as planned and will photograph site No. 4 on Orbit 21 on Aug. 24."

Katzenbach Orders Conversations Kept

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach has asserted executive privilege in ordering the FBI to keep eavesdropped conversations among Las Vegas gamblers a secret, court records revealed Tuesday

Katzenbach asserted the privilege in an affidavit answering a charge by Edward Levinson, former major owner of the Fremont Hotel-Casino, that the FBI wiretapped his executive offices.

The charges are contained in a $4.5 million law suit filed by Levinson against the FBI and the Southern Nevada Division of Central Telephone Co.

Levinson's attorneys subpoenaed FBI agents, ordering them to submit to Clark County District Court all records, documents, memoranda, electronic recordings and physical evidence of the alleged wiretapping.

"I have instructed Mr. Dean Nelson, special FBI agent in charge of the Las Vegas FBI office, who does have possession of the documents not to produce certain ones of them, 112 in number," Katzenbach said.

The attorney general said other FBI agents named in the suit did not have possession, custody or control of the documents sought by the subpoenaes.

ENCEPHALITIS KILLS SIXTH

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — A sixth person died of encephalitis Tuesday in Dallas as the health director in the Gulf Coast city of Corpus Christi termed the outbreak there an epidemic.

Air Force planes intensified its spraying of Dallas County in an effort to erase the mosquito population blamed for Dallas' epidemic which has caused 89 suspected cases in the area.

Dr. W. R. Metzger, Corpus Christi health director, terming his city's outbreak an epidemic, said four cases of St. Louis encephalitis had been confirmed there. He said another 46 persons were being watched as possibly having the mosquito-borne disease.

Dr. Metzger said Corpus Christi had been spraying with trucks since last week. Now, he added aerial sparying similar to that used in Dallas, is under consideration.

Aid Whirls To West Texas Town Flooded After Deluge

Dell City, Tex. (AP) — Relief-bent Army helicopters ferried water, food and vaccine into flood-stricken Dell City Tuesday night after deluges of rain struck far west Texas and eastern New Mexico.

Flood waters up to 6 feet deep covered much of Dell City, north of U.S. 62-180 and just south of the southern New Mexico line.

Rain-Swollen Pecos Floods Carlsbad, N.M.

By United Press International

More than eight inches of rain in four days sent Pecos River floodwaters pouring into Carlsbad, N.M., Tuesday. The heaviest rainstorm in more than a year doused Portland, Maine.

More than 50 families left their homes in Carlsbad, and part of the Tansell Dam, which is Carlsbad's main power source, began to crumble.

A radio newsman was believed drowned while covering the floods.

Portland had 3.19 inches of rain in two days, and cut the 1966 rainfall deficit by almost half. Lightning touched afire a home in North Middleboro, Mass.

The Texas highway patrol said 90% of the town (pop. 950) was covered with from 6 inches to six feet of water. At least 75% of the town's homes were flooded.

Helicopters were pressed into service to aid Dell City residents, many of them reported on their rooftops, after a convoy of 21 Army vehicles and 100 men was stopped at Cornudas, Tex., by high water.

Army spokesmen from Ft. Bliss at El Paso said U.S. 62-180 was covered by deep water for about 300 feet at Cornudas, some 63 miles east of El Paso.

The big 'copters took over there and ferried milk, vaccine and bottled water into the flood-besieged town. Another helicopter flew blood to Carlsbad, N.M., virtually marooned by water like Dell City. The 50 pounds of whole blood was termed a backup supply in event it was needed in Carlsbad.

Property damage in the flooded areas was stupendous.

Runoff from the Guadalupe Mountains and the Hueco Range, 40 miles to the west, coursed down normally dry arroyos to wipe out valuable cropland.

Dell City was buried, the pair said, under 3 to 5 feet of mud and water. Thousands of acres of cotton were submerged. Crops were torn from fields adjacent to arroyos leading from the Cornudas and Hueco Mountains.

Runoff water flowed through salt flats in the area, then coursed through farmlands with soil-ruining alkalis. All the cropland between Salt Flat and Dell City, a distance of about 15 miles, was under water.

Stock Market Erratic, Lower

New York (AP) — Traders were whipsawed in an up-and-down stock market Tuesday. The list ended with its seventh straight daily loss. Trading was heavy.

Volume was 9.83 million shares compared with 8.69 million Monday and was the largest since May 17 when 9.97 million shares changed hands.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended with a loss of 1.89 at 790.14, keeping it at its lowest level since Feb. 10, 1964. The final reading was neither its best nor its worst for the day.

At 8:30 a.m. CST—the Dow Jones industrials were up 1.28. At 9:30 a.m. they were down 6.23. At noon, they were up 3.96.

Pessimists, who were selling the market short, got caught — so did many optimists who felt the list was about at bottom. Who was really right only time would tell.

"The type of erratic trading we saw today often occurs at important turning points," said Newton D. Zinder, market analyst for E. F. Hutton & Co.

Glamor stocks among the color televisions, other electronics, photography, office equipments and the like were among the pacemakers, both up and down. Airlines, however, were clobbered pretty badly.

The drop in the Dow Jones industrials from their record closing high of 995.1 made on Feb. 9 had now covered 205.01 points, more than 5 points worse than the approximate 200-point loss taken by the average in the spring of 1962.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index lost .13 at 78.11.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost .4 at 283.7, taking it to its lowest point since Feb. 24, 1963 when it closed at 283.0. The industrials were off .4, rails .2 and utilities .4, all making new lows for the year.

Of 1,425 issues traded, 657 declined and 524 advanced. New lows for the year totaled 499. For the second straight session there were no new highs.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Treasury bonds declined.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Amateurs Still Searching For Riskless Investment

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

It is escapist for amateur investors wistfully to search for a "sure thing" which will be free of risk.

Yet the futile hope persists and is reflected in my

MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

No "Sure Thing"

mailbag. A letter from a reader in Joplin, Mo. asks about my "favorite fund" and inquires whether it is better to pay the load, or premium for sales expense, rather than buy "no load" funds.

When an individual engages professional counsel either directly on a fee basis or indirectly through acquisition of professionally managed "financial packages of convenience," such as open-end or closed end investment companies or common trust funds operated by banks and trust companies, he should know that, in following specialists, he is proceeding for his own "account and risk." Similarly when a patient consults a physician, he has no assurance that the prognosis is guaranteed or that he is personally assured longevity.

Mature investors should be aware of their obligation to appraise and select business risks, and diversify for relative protection.

Funds must be judged by their record of past performance and by the reputation of the sponsors. This does not preclude a change in future results growing out of new environmental conditions in the national economy, on the one hand, or internal changes in the fund management, on the other. Even if management remains static, its ability to adjust to changing conditions is perpetually being tested. Accordingly, independent advisers should not be dogmatic, and at best can offer only their objective judgment concerning the shape of things to come.

Helpful Tools

There are tools to aid in practical procedure. The past record of funds is disclosed in the manuals, such as Wiesenberger's "Investment Companies," published annually, with interim supplements. Generalizations as to which type of funds fare best must be revised at different phases of the business cycle.

In the first half of this year, the venturesome funds as a class conserved assets better than the well balanced funds. Next the criterion is not whether a fund has a "load" or not. The load is a burden except to the long term investor in a fund which is capably managed. The freedom from a "load" is attractive when other factors are equal. This means getting aboard without an entrance fee.

But the bargain hunter should not overlook the fact that prime closed end investment company shares, listed on the New York Stock Exchange, have been quoted at a negative "load," that is, at substantial discounts below current net break-up value of the assets held. Such discounts are listed on Mondays in the Wall Street Journal. While discounts prevail now, at other times such securities have sold at premiums above the liquidating value.

No salesmen are ringing door bells to push the old shares of closed end investment companies. Similarly brokers and dealers are adamant toward "no load" funds as there is nothing in it for them. Such securities must be purchased on the initiative of the buyer directly from the sponsoring firm.

Q. A lady in Lincoln, Nebraska asks about the wisdom of her mother cashing in $2,000 of bonds and putting them jointly in the parent's and the daughter's names, evidently to avoid probate.

A. This column does not give legal advice. Each decendent has a personal exemption of $60,000 before federal estate taxes begin after death. Accordingly, the tax factor is not involved in this small transaction. One simple way would be to give the bonds, if they are in unregistered form, to the daughter. No federal gift tax is involved in such transfers under $3,000 a year and in addition each person has a lifetime gift tax exemption of $30,000 and $60,000 in the case of married couples filing joint tax returns.

Q. A lady in a suburb of New York City asks about the desirability of the AMA retirement plan or the Prudential Variable Annuity Plan. She writes: "We have been told by insurance experts that it would be foily to put money into an annuity because it would be simpler to put it into a savings bank account at 5% instead of giving it to an annuity plan which pays less."

A. I don't like to condemn professional advisers on the basis of what may be unintentionally garbled reports by lay persons. The AMA Plan is desirable and is tailored for the requirements of physicians. As I understand it, the excellent Variable Annuity Plans in the works of Prudential and Mutual of New York at first will be available only for group sale—not for individual sale.

The reader should not assume that there is a "one best" plan for retirement. It is not a case of an "either or" approach. The setup could well be divided between fixed dollars and variable dollars (based on stock plans.)

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers with stamped self-addressed envelopes concerning their financial problems in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Marchers Met By Bottles, Bricks

Chicago (AP)—Civil Rights marchers staged a fair housing parade Tuesday night through a Southeast Side neighborhood for the second time in three days amid a barrage of bottles and bricks hurled by white residents.

After the march, many of the paraders hurried to a Southwest Side Church where Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. repeated his promise to march to Cicero Sunday.

The march to South Deering was led by the Rev. Jesse Jackson. A force of 450 police formed vanguards and flanks for the 200 racially mixed marchers, who were greeted with taunts and derogatory signs from 1,500 white residents who stood in the streets on a crisp evening.

One Of The Shortest

The march lasted a little more than a hour and was one of the shortest since demonstrations began a month ago.

King was not with the marchers but he later told a rally of 400 persons, "Not only are we going to walk in Cicero, we're going to work in Cicero, and we're going to live in Cicero."

King also reiterated his position on nonviolence.

"Even if every Negro in the United States comes to think that Negroes ought to riot and get violent," he said, "I'm going to stand as that lone voice and say, it's impractical, it's unsound and we'll never get our way that way."

The hostile crowd of 1,500 taunting white persons waved swastikas, raised signs reading: "White Power!" "White Trash," and "Mayor Daley, we won't Forget"

The shallow line of marchers ducked as rocks, bottles and firecrackers were hurled from passageways and alleys.

Flank Security

A force of 450 police provided a vanguard and flank security for the parades. Police arrested 16 persons including a woman and a girl who were dragged to a police van when they resisted the blue-helmeted patrolmen.

One policeman was struck by a brick and taken to a hospital.

The march was delayed until dusk because of a court injunction which bans demonstrators to walk during rush hours.

Four policemen from Cicero, in plain clothes, mingled with the hecklers. One Cicero lawman told a newsman, "My belly has been tied in knots for two weeks worrying about that march into Cicero."

Gov. Otto Kerner scheduled a meeting for 10 a.m. Wednesday with Sheriff Richard Ogilvie of Cook County, John Karner, president of the Cicero Village Board, and Christy S. Berkos, Cicero town attorney.

King told newsman after his speech that he has no plans to meet with Kerner.

Also

Berkos sent the telegrams to Dr. King and Albert A. Raby, head of the Coordinating Council of Community organizations, an alliance of Chicago civil rights groups. King and Raby have been directing open housing marches in Chicago and its suburbs.

"In the interest of the health, welfare and safety of all," Berkos suggested, they should confer with him on "the advisability of this demonstration as well as the proposed time, route and existing ordinances of Cicero governing parades, demonstration, etc."

Paris-Shanghai Flight

If you're interested in a security, ask us to get you detailed information. Find out exactly what you're buying, know that it fits your investment objectives.

Remember, we don't sell you anything. We gather information to help you invest wisely. You make the decision.
